Strike Stops at American Motors' Plants After New Pact Is Signed With UAW

THEY ENDED SIX-HOUR CHRYSLER STRIKE. Six hours after a strike deadline sent workers streaming out of 61 plants in seven states, Chrysler corporation and UAW-CIO negotiators agreed on a new three-year contract giving 139,000 employees the same guaranteed wage benefits Ford and General Motors granted earlier this summer. Shown after agreement are (from left) Norman Matthews, UAW vice president and director of the union's Chrysler division; Emil Mazey, UAW-CIO secretary-treasurer and director of the union's Chrysler body division; Robert W. Conder, Chrysler director of industrial relations, and John Leary, company labor relations expert.

Agreement Is Patterned on 'Big 3' Terms

Layoff Pay Plan Will Not Become Effective Until 1957, However

DETROIT (AP) —American Motors Corp. today became the first of the Little Three in the auto industry to settle with the CIO United Auto Workers on the Big Three contract pattern. The settlement ended a strike called by the union at midnight Thursday.

The American Motors settlement differed in one major respect with those reached with the Big Three — General Motors, Ford and Chrysler. AMC's layoff pay plan will not be put into operation until a year after the others.

Benefits To Start in 1957

The company will start paying into a trust fund Sept. 15, 1956, and benefits will not become available until a year after that.

Benefits become effective at the Big Three next June 1.

UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock said the union agreed to the year's delay in an effort to make American Motors "a permanent success in the auto industry" and to help a group of 3,000 displaced former Hudson Motor Car Co. employes in Detroit.

American Motors was formed last year by merger of Nash-Kelvinator Corp. and Hudson.

Woodcock mentioned the company's "economic problems attendant on the merger" and said the UAW wanted to "help American Motors meet these problems."

Company Paying More

Edward L. Cushman, American Motors vice president, said his company had been paying more than the going rates in the auto industry and had asked the union to "bargain on the economic facts of American Motors Corp."

Woodcock said the layoff pay plan, wage increases and other benefits in the new American Motors agreement constitute a 14-cent an hour package for the first year of the three-year pact. This includes a flat wage boost of six to eight cents an hour for all employes. Additional six-cent raises will be given in 1956 and 1957.

The UAW previously had estimated the value of the Ford, General Motors and Chrysler packages in excess of 20 cents an hour the first year.

Peron Places Capital Under State of Siege

Dictator's Demands For Power To Crush His Foes Are Granted

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, (AP) — Congressional approval of a "state of siege" for Buenos Aires today bulwarked President Juan Peron's new drive to crush his opposition.

The all-Peronista Senate unanimously okayed the bill Thursday night after the Peron-dominated lower house voted it through 109-12 in compliance with Peron's demand for emergency powers to "annihilate" his foes.

Covers City Only

Peron was expected to affix his signature today, transforming into law the measure affecting the capital's 3½ million citizens. The whole country was placed under a state of siege for 13 days after the unsuccessful navy revolt against the government June 16. The new restrictions applied only to Buenos Aires, however.

It appeared the chief effect of the measure would be psychological since Peron already had the special powers under a "state of internal war" clamped on the country in September 1951 after military men staged another abortive revolt.

Both "states" suspend constitutional guarantees to permit the government to hold anyone indefinitely without trial and deny them the right to win freedom under habeas corpus proceedings. However, the state of siege is a constitutional measure, while the state of internal war was an emergency act adopted three years ago for the first time in Argentina's history.

'As Long as Necessary'

As the House of Deputies rammed through the bill, Angel Enrique Peralta, who represents the powerful pro-Peron General Confederation of Labor (CGT) in the House, said the state of siege would last "as long as necessary—until we eliminate the last danger of troublemakers."

The government proposal provoked an uproar from the 12 Radical party members, the only opposition in the House. Radical Deputy Santiago Carlos Fassi charged that Peron's speech proclaiming reprisals against his opponents the night before had been designed to "incite to crime and destruction," but he was drowned out by Peronista deputies chanting "Peron, Peron!"

Highways Jammed

Last Long Holiday Of Summer Begins

Americans start their last holiday weekend of the summer tonight. This is the Labor Day weekend and many persons will take advantage of it to get in their last fling at the activities which make summer a popular time.

With the close of the weekend Monday, the summer season in many cases also will close. School will begin again next week and the youngsters will return to the routine which they left three months ago.

HIGHWAYS ARE expected to be jammed with motorists, and one estimate had 40 million cars on the nation's roads over the weekend. About 20 persons are expected to die in highway accidents in Ohio alone.

Law enforcement officials warn that persons who drive recklessly and violate the law will be dealt with harshly.

Both the Marion post of the state patrol and Marion police will have full staffs on hand to enforce traffic rules.

Labor Day will mark the close of the season for swimmers at Crystal Lake pool north of Marion. The pool at the Marion Country Club, though, will remain open until about Sept. 15, weather permitting.

—:—

GOLF COURSES IN the area are expecting large turnouts throughout the weekend, as many duffers and experts take their last fling at breaking par for the summer.

A total of 32 teams will vie for the title in the men's 36-hole best ball golf tourament staged annually at the Marion Country Club over the Labor Day weekend.

The two-man teams have Saturday, Sunday and Monday in which to play off the 36 holes. Best score

Two Burglars Interrupted in Theater Theft

Pair Eludes Merchant Officer, Loses Money In Fleeing Ohio Lobby

Two young burglars were nearly caught in the act of burglarizing the Ohio Theater early today.

They escaped when they broke open a door to the manager's office and bowled over a surprised merchant policeman as he was in the process of checking the building to see if all doors were locked.

Ira Seiter, the merchant policeman, told city police that he had gone into the lobby of the building and was just reaching out to check the manager's office door when it burst open and the two youths ran out. He said he only caught a glimpse of them before they disappeared out a side door and could describe them only as being young and that one was shorter than the other.

In their investigation, police found the pair had pried open a cash drawer at a candy counter in the lobby and had taken the change from it.

Later police found the loose change lying a few feet from the office door where the thieves apparently dropped it in their haste to escape. It was in a money bag which was taken from a drawer

Union Orders Pennsy Strike Postponement

Walkout, Set Tonight In 12 States, Delayed After Ike Intervenes

NEW YORK (AP)—The CIO Transport Workers Union today ordered postponement of a strike of 35,000 nonoperating employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The strike had been scheduled for midnight tonight.

Michael J. Quill, TWU president, declared, however, that the employes might be "reluctant to postpone their decision to strike."

Notifying Board

He said the union was notifying the National Mediation Board that it was directing its locals to postpone the walkout that would have hit 12 states and the District of Columbia.

The postponement directive came after President Eisenhower stepped into the situation by creating an emergency fact-finding board to look into the dispute. Under the Railway Labor Act, this usually postpones strikes for 60 days.

A strike tonight could have interfered with Labor Day weekend travel of thousands of persons. The union contended the road could not have run without the maintenance work performed by the nonoperating employes.

Grievances Cited

The strike action grew out of what the union called an accumulation of grieveances dating back six years.

Quill said union headquarters sent telegrams to 52 locals in the Pennsylvania Railroad territory directing a delay in the strike. It asked the locals to notify their members to report for work as scheduled "and to make every ef-

Israeli Accept Cease-Fire in Frontier War

Accede to U.N.'s Call For Truce With Egypt; Fighting Dying Down

JERUSALEM (AP) — Only one minor incident was reported along the tense Egyptian-Israel frontier Thursday night after Israel announced conditional acceptance of appeal to end the fighting.

An Israeli military spokesman at Tel Aviv said Egyptian infiltrators blew up a well shortly before midnight near Yad Mordechai, an Israeli settlement northeast of the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip.

Israel Thursday night announced acceptance of a U. N.-proposed cease-fire, provided "all attacks by Egyptians in whatever form will cease."

Observe Cease Fire

A spokesman for Egypt's Palestine department said in Cairo that Egyptian troops have been ordered to observe a cease-fire.

Pointing out that Egypt agreed Tuesday to the cease-fire proposal by Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M Burns, chief of the U. N. Truce Supervisory Commission, the spokesman said he did not know if it was necessary for the Cairo government to send a new reply.

The Israeli announcement came as estimates of casualties in the past nine days of fighting in the Gaza area reached as high as 61 killed and 91 wounded. The toll soared when Israeli troops in halftracks blew up an Egyptian military headquarters at Khan Yunis, in the Egyptian-held Gaza region, Wednesday night.

Called Punishment

Israel described the raid as punishment for previous Egyptian attacks and a warning against future hostilities.

The Voice of Israel radio said 40 Egyptians were killed and 40 wounded at Khan Yunis. It said the attackers "could easily have occupied the entire Gaza Strip." Egypt reported 10 of her men killed and 12 injured, while private informants put the Egyptian losses at 17 dead and 10 wounded.

The stepped-up violence in the Gaza area, a 6-by-30-mile strip of land, came after negotiations between Egypt and Israel on easing tension broke down Aug. 24. Clashes or raids across the border have occurred daily since then.

Lausche Asks New Efforts on Traffic Safety

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Frank J. Lausche today called on members of his statewide traffic safety committee for intensified efforts to reduce highway accidents.

He made the plea as the executive section of the governor's safety committee met in Columbus to map a fall campaign under the direction of Jesse T. Smith of Cleveland, committee general chairman.

The session preceded the Labor Day weekend during which the state highway safety department predicted about 20 persons would die in traffic accidents.

"The problem of highway accidents is growing more acute all over the country," Lausche said.

"July was a shockingly bad month, not only in Ohio, but in other states. It means that the means that we have adopted to reduce accidents will have to be pressed into execution with greater vigor."

The governor urged safely committee members "to explore every means which has been suggested

Tax Collections For County Hit Record Figure

Treasurer Says 99.15 Per Cent of Total Due For Last Year Is Paid

Tax collections for the year 1954, collected during this year, set a new record for Marion County, Marion E. Hinklin, county treasurer, reported this morning.

Hinklin's office collected 99.15 per cent of the amount charged for collections, the highest percentage in the county for the last 50 years. Records before that time were unavailable, Hinklin said.

He added that he did not believe any collections before that time would have exceeded the figure of this year.

The treasurer was charged to collect $2,411,412.80 for the entire year, or $1,205,656.40 for each half-year.

During the first half collections, $1,198,251.03 or 99.38 per cent of the half-year charge was paid. In the second half, $1,192,622.61 was collected, a 98.91 per cent average.

The collections this year on a percentage basis, were .01 per cent higher than last year when 99.14 per cent of the charge was collected.

Besides the regular taxes, Hinklin reported that 69.2 of all delinquent taxes owed the county were collected this year. The delinquent collection brings the delinquency owed the city and the county to a new all-time low figure, Hinklin said.

Hinklin pointed out that Marion County has the highest percentage collection, reported so far, of any county of comparable size in Ohio. He expressed the belief that when all reports are made, the local percentage will lead all counties in the state.

Hinklin said that a large share of the uncollected money of this year could be accounted for by estates of persons who died since the start of the year and whose estates were tied up in Probate Court procedures. He said that when those estates are cleared, the percentage of collections for the year will be even higher.

U.S. Retaliates To Harassment By Hungarians

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has clamped a lid on Hungarian information activities here and protested Hungarian secret police "harassment" against the American legation in Budapest.

In one half of the double-barrelled action, Secretary of State Dulles Thursday ordered the Hungarian legation here to "cease all information activities" except those carried on within the legation building.

That means the legation must stop its distribution of publications, except as they may be called for at the legation, including the 8,000 to 10,000 copies of the magazine New Hungary it has been mailing monthly. It also must stop sponsoring showings of movie films and photographic exhibits.

Dulles' note to the legation protested that Communist police have been molesting Hungarians who call at the American legation in Budapest for U.S. publications. Also, it charged, Hungarian employes of the American legation have been harassed. It listed 12 who have been arrested or sent away from Budapest or have "disappeared without trace."

The State Department made public a July 1 protest to Hungary charging "American members of the staff of the legation, including the American minister (Christian M. Ravndal), have from time to time been placed under close surveillance" by the secret police.

Marshal at 95, Sidekick, 114, Hit Trail Again

PERKINS, Okla. (AP) — Frank (Pistol Pete) Eaton, 95-year-old former Indian territory marshal who was sure death on outlaws, and his 114-year-old Indian sidekick are going to hit the trail again.

But this time it isn't to keep law and order — it's to help out Denver scientists who want to know the secret of their long life.

Pistol Pete doesn't think he'll be much help but he's willing to try. After all, a trip breaks the monotony for the former lawman who still carries his .45 with 10 notches on the butt, just in case.

"Shucks, I just eat everything anyone puts in front of me, any time of the day and don't worry," Pete explained today. "There are probably lots of folks who do the same and don't live nearly so long."

Eaton and his durable Indian friend Chief Big Bear Two Hands plan to go to Denver next week. Eaton doesn't recollect who the folks are out there who want to see them, but says Jesse James III, who claims to be a descendant of the famed outlaw, arranged the trip.

"They're just some fellers who want to ask us what makes us live so long," Eaton said.

Chief Big Bear Two Hands is the oldest member of the Iowa tribe and believed to be the oldest Indian in the country.

Both old-timers knew Jesse James. The chief said he scouted for Jesse and later helped white settlers make the run into Indian territory in 1889.

Blast, Fire Rip Chicago Plant Area; 36 Hurt

Damage Set at Million Dollars; Explosion's Cause Not Determined

CHICAGO (AP)—A terrific explosion and flash fire Thursday night destroyed half a square block in a near Southwest Side factory district, injuring at least 36 persons and causing an estimated million dollars damage.

No deaths were reported but a hunt for possible victims will be made after weakened walls of the burned buildings are destroyed. It was believed all factory workers had escaped.

Driver Killed

A Salvation Army canteen truck driver was killed in a collision en route to the scene at 38th Street and Ashland Avenue.

Of the injured, eight were hospitalized. One was reported in critical condition, another in serious condition. Most of the injured suffered from burns.

Chief Fire Marshal Albert Petersen estimated the damage. Destroyed in the 3½-hour fire were the three-story Griffith Laboratory building, where the explosion occurred, and two adjoining structures occupied by the Carr-Consolidated Biscuit Co. One building was three stories, the other six.

The cause of the explosion was not determined immediately.

Flames Wreck Lab

It sent flames racing through the Griffith Laboratory. They quickly spread — within three or four minutes, witnesses said—to the adjoining biscuit manufacturing structures.

Some 90 workers, most Negro women, were at work in the biscuit plant. Randolph Buchwelle, the plant's general manager, said he believed all had "ample" time to escape.

The fire brought out some 70 pieces of fire equipment in answer to the city's highest alarm, a 5-11, with five special alarms.

Witnesses reported seeing three persons leap from second and third floor windows.

Greenlease Ransom Bills Appear at Chicago Bank

CHICAGO (AP)—Three bills from the missing $303,720 portion of the Greenlease ransom money have been found in Chicago.

Donald Hostetter, FBI chief in Chicago, in announcing this today, said the search is continuing and asked the general public to join in the hunt.

It was the largest one-day recovery of currency put up to ransom Bobby Greenlease, who was kidnaped and killed.

Identification Positive

Hostetter said the bills have been identified positively.

A woman clerk in the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago spotted one $20 bill that was part of the ransom bundle. That started a horough check of $10 and $20 bills. Federal Reserve Bank employes and FBI agents teamed up in the task of checking over the thousands of bills in the bank.

The result was the recovery of two more bills, all of $20 denomination.

All were retrieved on the same day—Wednesday.

Hostetter said the "project at Federal Reserve Bank is continuing."

Suggests Currency Check

He suggested that Chicago citizens examine their currency in the hope that more ransom cash will be brought to light.

The Chicago recovery was the largest at one time thus far. One $20 bill was found Aug. 4 in Minot, N. D. Two bills were found this week in the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis. Tracing the money has led to a theory that the cash

Has Deep Interest in GOP's Future

Ike To Take Active Role Whether He Runs or Not

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower was pictured today as most likely to play an active role in the 1956 presidential campaign whether he runs for re-election or not.

Eisenhower aides said privately he is determined to try to guide the Republican party along the "dynamic conservatism" lines he has said it must follow to remain in power.

Will Meet Chairmen

The President's deep interest in the party's future was pointed up Thursday in the Summer White House announcement that he will confer here Sept. 10 with the Republican chairmen from all 48 states.

They will be accompanied from an earlier Washington meeting by Leonard W. Hall, GOP national chairman. And it is being taken almost for granted that the party leaders will appeal to the President to bid for a second term.

Presidential associates here said Eisenhower is as intensely interested in trying to help the Republicans recapture control of Congress next year as he is in keeping the White House in GOP hands—regardless of whether he is the candidate.

Simpson To Attend

Rep. Richard Simpson of Pennsylvania, chairman of the House Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, plans to attend the Denver meeting.

There is an outside possibility Eisenhower will give the state leaders a clue to his plans. But the general expectation is that he will wait until next spring before announcing whether he will run again.

Mercury Hits 110 Degrees

Los Angeles Heat Wave Shatters 64-Year Record

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Southern Californians braced themselves for another scorcher today in the wake of Thursday's record high temperatures which were blamed for four deaths and 57 cases of heat prostration.

The mercury zoomed to 110 degrees in Los Angeles, cracking a 64-year-old mark by one degree. Nearby Tujunga recorded a sizzling 120. And on the normally torrid Mojave Desert it was a comparatively cool 90 to 103.

More Expected

More heat was forecast today, with a high of 108 expected for downtown Los Angeles.

Searing winds fanned a brush fire in San Dimas, 25 miles east of here, which engulfed 12 homes and blackened 200 acres.

Farmers in interior valleys reported that tens of thousands of chickens had succumbed to the heat, 12,000 at one ranch in suburban Bellflower. Commercial flower crops also were damaged. Several downtown offices closed Thursday afternoon.

Burns Feet on Beach

San Diego County authorities said the 104-degree heat there was a major disaster to the multimillion-dollar poultry industry. A farm bureau director, Warren Hooper, estimated that nearly 6,000 chickens and turkeys dropped dead in their pens.

Several persons were treated in Santa Monica for burns on the soles of their feet, received as they raced across the oven-hot beach sands to the water.

At neighboring Torrance, city construction projects were halted

4-H Club News

A contribution of $5 was made to the Red Cross flood disaster relief program by the Martel Lads and Lassies 4-H Club at its meeting Monday night at the home of the adviser, Kenneth R. Pangborn. Fourteen members and three guests were present.

As a club project for 1956, the club plans to raise $100 for CARE, to help furnish badly-needed farm implements for overseas countries ravaged by wars and strife. The money will go to the Koreans. The club voted to hold meetings once a month during the school year. At the next meeting, Sept. 19, at the school, plans will be made to complete the 1955 club project of furnishing a Christmas for a needy family in marion.

Dozen 'Ducks' Sought

Bible Words for Today

JOHN 13:3-4—"Jesus, knowing. . . that he had come from God and was going to God, rose from supper, laid aside his garment, and girded himself with a towel." (RSV)

* * *

These words speak volumes about the life of Jesus. We see the source of His life—it is God; and, we see that His goal is God. But the text also shows us what He did before arriving at His destiny; He lovingly served others. This fact is depicted by the towel of service with which He girded Himself. We are led to believe that Jesus was always mindful of His origin and of His goal, but that the important thing was what He did in between.

Although we would not equate ourselves with Jesus, we should recognize that our origin too is God and our destiny is in His keeping. So, we should pay attention to what we do in between. Jesus girded Himself with a towel of service. Can we do any less for our fellowman?

Navy of Future To Have New Look, Thomas Says

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The Navy's ships of the future will bear no resemblance to the fighting ships of today, says Navy Secretary Thomas

"The conventional guns on the cruisers will be gone," he told the Armed Services Committee of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce Thursday. "The cruisers will be armed with guided missiles. Jet seaplanes will have a terrific future, for they will be able to travel anywhere in the world."

Church Briefs From the District

Second part of a sermon on "A Fearless Future" will be given at morning worship hour in the Methodist Church of Prospect Sunday. Because of need for more Sunday School room space, a church basement excavation project is under way with use of volunteer labor. A congregational meeting will be held Sept. 11 to determine the extent to which the project will go.

Returned from vacation, Rev. Paul E. Dobberstein will fill his pulpit in St. Paul Lutheran Church at Prospect Sunday morning

"Christian Labor Principals" will be the subject of the sermon Sunday morning at the Nevada Lutheran Church. The church council will meet Wednesday night.

Sermon topic Sunday morning at First Methodist Church in Richwood will be, "Workers Together With God."

Seek Jobless Aid Hike Issue on Ballot

CIO Petitions May Lack Enough Valid Signatures

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio CIO petitions to put the issue of increased state unemployment benefits up to the voters may lack sufficient valid signatures, it was reported today.

With 13 of 85 counties still to be heard from, incomplete returns in the office of Secretary of State Ted W. Brown indicate:

The number of valid signatures on the CIO Council supplemental petitions will either fall very short or just go over the needed 77,934 to put the proposed law on the Nov 8 ballot.

The supplemental petitions were filed by the council after the recent Legislature failed to act on the CIO initiated law to raise unemployment benefits from $30 to $50 a week. The Legislature raised the benefits to $33 a week.

Brown sent the CIO's 5,989 supplemental petitions containing 152,251 signatures to 85 county election boards to check their validity.

These signatures had to be from persons who did not sign the original CIO petitions by which the initiated bill was sent to the Legislature.

Supplemental petitions with about 1,000 signatures were immediately invalidated here after Brown said each contained names of persons from more than one county. State law forbids one petition to carry signatures from more than one county. This is to facilitate ease of checking them.

Besides increasing unemployment benefits, the CIO's proposed law also would increase the length of payments from 26 to 39 weeks and raise dependency allowances from $6 to a maximum of $9 a week. It would make it possible for benefits to be paid while a worker is receiving lay-off pay from his employer.

So far, an unofficial count of signatures already certified and returned to Brown by election boards show 61,363 valid and 31,452 invalid. This averages out to about 66 per cent validity.

If the same percentage holds true on the outstanding signatures, this would produce slightly more than 15,800 signatures. That number added to the unofficial 61,363 valid ones, would bring the total to 77,163, or just short of the needed 77,934.

In that event, the CIO would have 10 days to get additional signatures to qualify the issue for the ballot.

Pack of Pickers Pick In Wrong Pickle Patch

DECKERVILLE, Mich. (AP) — A pack of pickle pickers almost got in a parcel of trouble picking 20 pecks of pickles in the wrong pickle patch.

State Rep. Herb Clements had offered free pickles from his patch to people willing to pick them.

Some Detroiters pulled up to what they thought was the Clements patch and started picking. The owner came out and asked what they thought they were doing.

"Picking free pickles," one replied.

The farmer told them the Clements patch was six miles farther away.

He said they could keep the pickles.

CWA Resumes Contract Talks With Ohio Bell

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bargaining resumed today between the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. and the CIO Communications Workers Union, which has set midnight as a deadline for reaching a settlement.

The union has threatened to strike unless an agreement is reached, but has not set a time for a possible walkout.

An Ohio Bell spokesman said he doubted that the union could legally strike on grounds it has not served proper notice for termination of the old contract, which was to have expired Aug. 21. The union, however, contends it has complied with all requirements for a legal strike.

The union last night turned down Bell's latest proposal to settle the wage dispute affecting 16,000 employes in Ohio. Bell has offered general wage increases ranging from $1.50 to $4.00 weekly. Thomas Mitchell, CWA state regional director, said the proposal failed to match settlements in the steel, auto and rubber industries.

Foul Play Is Suspected In Case of Missing WACs

Mabel E. Miller, Allentown, Pa., disappeared from their Edgewood WAC detachment Wednesday night. Police last night sent out a 13-state alarm. Army officials said the pair was reliable and unlikely to intentionally fail to report for duty.

Ohio State Fair Turnout May Be Half-Million

Eight-Day Exposition Set To Close Tonight; 1954 Mark Is Topped

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 1955 Ohio State Fair—one of the nation's top agricultural showpieces for cattle and sheep—winds up today with total attendance for the eight-day exposition expected to reach the half million mark.

Last year's attendance was 412,959. By Wednesday, the 1955 attendance of 425,420 had already passed last year's total.

Visitors will be admitted free after 3 p. m. today, and exhibitors are under orders to maintain their displays until 6 p.m.

Stock Car Races

Topping the agenda will be afternoon stock car races for the state championship, and final judging of female classes in the National Red Poll Cattle Show.

There'll also be awarding of championship stakes in the night horse show, night wrestling, a fashion show, junior fair sheep shearing contest and FA and 4-H demonstrations.

Yesterday was Governor's Day at the fair, and the chief attraction was Gov. Frank J. Lausche. His tour of the fairgrounds included talks, presentations and an invariable "hello there, welcome to the fair" greeting to all he met.

Lausche Speaks

In a radio talk, Lausche spoke of Ohio's "acute problem" of water supply and its adverse affect on agriculture. He outlined six possible future steps to curb the situation. These were:

Scientific farming, elimination of stream pollution, creation of more interior lakes, expansion of farm ponds, tightening of strip mine laws and a study of piping Lake Erie water to the Ohio interior.

Lausche spoke of one project he said he was "fanatical about."

"I'd plant trees all around the fairgrounds so the farmer could come with his family and a basket lunch, and it would be like coming to a picnic."

The governor lunched with his cabinet, then attended harness racing. He awarded the Governor's Cup for three-year-old trotters to Silver Field, a gray colt which took most of the $5,000 prize money. Silver Field, owned by Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Faulder of Sidney, won two of the three deciding heats.

Average Over 25 Cents

In the annual Fat Cattle Sale, which the governor opened, 594 head of cattle, averaging 1,026 pounds apiece, were auctioned off for an average of just over 25 cents a pound.

There were 192 entries in the National Red Poll Cattle Show in which twin 31-year-old brothers, James and John McKee of Washburn, Ill., took the grand and reserve champion titles with their two and three-year-old bulls, respectively.

Top ribbons in the National Oxford Down Sheep Show went to J. H. Kemmerly & Son of Wharton, who captured the national grand champion ram and ewe crowns. The reserve titles were won by Crandell & Ludlow, Cass City, Mich.

Dennis Lammers, 16, of New Knoxville, took most of the honors in the 4-H Brown Swiss Show, a junior fair cattle event. With three entries, he captured the grand champion of show title after winning first places in the 2-year-old and 3-year-old cow classes and the Brown Swiss calf event.

Reporter Dives Into Star's Pool For Interview

By JAMES (FRIED) BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The office thermometer read 110 degrees but Hollywood news, like the show, must go on. Tough, but true.

That explains why Esther Williams is being written up for the second time in a few weeks by this reporter. Esther is a real newsy girl right now.

She's making her professional television debut Sept. 27 over NBC-TV on Milton Berle's first show of the season. Now that's the kind of news that needs covering.

Besides, Esther has that big swimming pool at her home. And her husband, Ben Gage, wears the same size trunks as I do.

After a hot ride from downtown to Esther's Mandeville Canyon home, I was soon interviewing her in her swimming pool.

"I don't possibly see how you can get another story out of me," she said, adding:

"Say, Ben's trunks fit you just right, don't they?"

Her kidney-shaped pool was okay too. Just right for my pool-shaped kidney. Also in the swim with us was Benjie, aged 6, Kim, almost 5, and little Susie — not yet 2.

Being Esther's kids, they can all swim like mad — even little Susie. It's enough to give Florence Chadwick an inferiority complex.

Esther continued:

"After the Berle show, I want to do some live dramatic shows on television, maybe even one of those 90-minute jobs. Maybe I can prove something — that Esther Williams can act out of the water

"I know I'm going to like television."

"Why?"

"Because they'll never be able to get a swimming pool on a 21 inch screen, that's why. They're going to have to like me for myself—not my backstroke. Now don't get me wrong, I love swimming and swimming pools. Where would I be today if it weren't for pools?"

That last was a horrible thought as I envisioned that downtown office which, when I left it, felt like the inside of a barbecue pit.

Pretty soon, Ben came home from his Beverly Hills office.

"Say honey," he yelled to his wife. "Did you know it hit 110 today?"

"Where Ben?" she asked.

"Yeh, Ben," I chorushed, coming up from a dive. "where?"

Los Angeles consumed a record amount of water Thursday —692 million gallons. Officials said there was a plentiful supply for the area.

Dozens of autos stalled on freeways, their engines vapor-locked. Minor traffic snarls resulted.

Hundreds of people spent last night and the night before in parks and on the beaches. Temperatures remained in the 90s and high 80s at night.

Authorities attributed four deaths to the heat Thursday, second day of the hot spell.

12 Homes Destroyed, 10 Others Damaged by Fire

SAN DIMAS, Calif. (AP)—A roaring fire fanned by hot winds destroyed 12 homes, severely damaged 10 more, scorched scores of others and showered this community with sparks Thursday.

Stables, garages, a small railroad station, a Girl Scout cabin, and several thousand chickens also were consumed by the flames, which for a time threatened this entire unincorporated town of 4,000 about 25 miles east of Los Angeles.

County Fire Chief Keith Klinger said the blaze apparently was set by an arsonist who tossed a flare into dry brush.

Strike

"We have bargained on the economic facts of American Motors Corp.," said Woodcock. He added that the union would not consider this agreement as a pattern for the other Little Three auto companies—Studebaker-Packard Corp., and Kaiser Motors Corp.

A shift of most of American Motors auto production to Wisconsin plants led to the displacement of Hudson workers in Detroit. Woodcock said the union had a "moral obligation" to provide old-time Hudson employes with pensions. Part of the saving from the one year delay in putting the layoff pay plan into effect will cover the cost of these pensions, he said.

Action Ends Strike

The agreement came about eight hours after a midnight strike deadline saw the start of walkouts at American Motors' seven plants in three states which eventually would have involved all of AMC's 24,000 workers.

The walkouts came precisely 24 hours after shutdowns hit Chrysler Corp. plants. Those lasted only six hours as Chrysler quickly became the last of the Big Three to settle with the UAW. Ford and General Motors settled in early June after brief strikes.

The layoff pay plans guarantee laid off workers 60 to 65 per cent of normal take-home pay for up to 26 weeks. They are financed by company contributions of five cents hourly per employe to trust funds which will be used in supplement regular state unemployment compensation in time of layoff.

Controversial snack and washup time breaks will continue in the new American Motors contract. Woodcock and Cushman said there are few changes in working conditions.

American Motors makes Nash and Hudson cars and its Kelvinator division makes household appliances.

First Hike Retroactive

The first six-cent wage increase will be retroactive to last June 1. The next will be effective June 15, 1956, and the third a year later. The contract runs until June 15, 1958.

Improvements were made in pension, hospital-medical, holiday and other provisions in line with the Ford-General Motors-Chrysler pattern.

The Big Three average wage was about $2.10 an hour when the 1955 round of negotiations began. Cushman said American Motors has been paying three cents an hour more than General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

American Motors has seven plants — three in Milwaukee and one each in Detroit, Grand Rapids, Mich., Kenosha, Wis., and El Segundo, Calif

The UAW still has not settled with the other little three companies — Studebaker-Packard Corp. and Kaiser Motors Corp. Studebaker's 9,000 employes struck Thursday, refusing to extend a contract that expired Wednesday midnight.

Federal taxes grew from about 3 per cent of the national income to above 26 per cent between 1932 and 1953.

Contract Talks Are Continuing At Studebaker

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Officials of the Studebaker plant of Studebaker-Packard, formally struck for the first time since its wagon-making days in the 1880s, planned today to continue contract talks with CIO United Auto Workers.

Both sides said there was no stalemate over issues. The talks started only two weeks ago, delayed by unauthorized walkouts and work stoppages. The contract expired Wednesday night before the negotiations had extended beyond general discussion.

The union membership overrode recommendations of UAW officials and voted to strike Thursday until a contract is signed. The union has not disclosed its demands.

James C Hagerty, White House press secretary, said the Denver conference and the earlier Washington session were being arranged to improve GOP campaign techniques, stimulate organizational activity and broaden political action to create greater enthusiasm among party workers.

Meanwhile, the vacationing President continued to take it easy—with official business kept to a minimum.

Thursday evening he enjoyed getting together at a downtown hotel with a group of men with whom he frequently plays golf at the Augusta National Club in Georgia. He stayed overnight in the hotel's Presidential Suite instead of returning to the home of his mother-in-law Mrs. John S. Doud.

The group planned to golf today at Denver's Cherry Hills Country Club, and to stay on here as the President's guests over the Labor Day weekend.

Only about half the $600,000 ransom money was recovered. Policemen Louis Shoulders and Elmer Dolan of St.Louis, who arrested Hall and Mrs. Heady, contended they turned in all the money they found in Hall's luggage. However, they were convicted of perjury and were sentenced to prison.

Japs Pictured As Reluctant on Military Role

U.S. Defense Officials See Hard Bargaining Ahead on Pacific Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—American defense officials foresee some hard and patient bargaining before Japan will accept the military role that the United States now wants her to play as a major partner in the defense of the Western Pacific.

The wide gap between what Japan is prepared to do and what Pentagon strategists think she could do was made clear in three days of conferences here this week with Japanese Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu.

Mostly Ground Troops

He proposed that Japan increase her present home defense force of 150,000 men to 200,000 by the end of 1958, with 90 per cent of the total being ground troops.

Japan's naval and air forces would remain small during this period, with the United States continuing to provide virtually full protection on the sea and in the air. The Japanese want until 1961 to build up a defensive air force and navy.

The American counterproposal calls for a Japanese ground force of 350,000, organized in 10 trained and ready divisions within about three years and a Japanese manned air force of 1,300 planes by 1960

Help With Policing Asia

The big point that the American officials tried to put over with Shigemitsu is that Japan should advance beyond her present thinking in terms of a home defense force and should think and plan to take over some of the United States burden of policing Asia.

The Americans made it plain they won't order withdrawal of U.S. troops until they think Japan's own military strength is such that they won't have to be rushed back at the first signs of a big storm in Asia.

Pentagon officials expect relatively little difficultry in getting Japan to speed up her air power program, because the devastating beating that nation took from the air in World War II is still a fresh and tragic memory.

The big problem to be tackled in continuing negotiations in Tokyo is over Japan's ground forces Japan knows that the U.S. Army doesn't like the idea of keeping its forces scattered in piecemeal lots around the world. But Shigemitsu left little doubt he will have a tough job selling a big army program to the Japanese Parliament and people.

Britain Moves To Calm Reds' Fears of Spies

Russia Assured U.N. Inspections Not To Be Linked With Espionage

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Britain has taken steps to calm Russian fears that the West plans to use proposed disarmament inspection teams for spying.

This was learned in diplomatic quarters as the U.N. Disarmament subcommittee members took a breather today after a week of closed talks. The subcommittee will resume work Tuesday.

Informed sources said the British have made it clear any control organ set up will be strictly that and not a spy nest.

The Russians reportedly seem to feel that the reason the West wants a control organ with wide powers is to set up a spy organization in the Soviet Union.

Anthony Nutting, British minister of state, was known to have offered assurances to the Russians. He reportedly said that in the early stages it would not go into atomic installations.

He also insisted that the control organ, in which the great powers would have a hand, must satisfy itself at each stage that it can handle the next stage before it moves on. This means, it was learned, that confidence would be built up by stages as the control organ gained experience in its work.

The Russians finished the first week still silent on President Eisenhower's plan for an exchange of military blueprints and aerial inspections.

Missing Man's Body Is Found, FBI Holds Pair

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The FBI said today the body of a man found in Mammoth Cave National Park had been identified positively as that of a vacationing Chicago chemist who had been missing since July 20.

Thomas J. Gearty, special agent in charge of the Louisville FBI office, said information provided by a young Milwaukee couple had resulted in finding the body. Both are being held.

The FBI in Chicago said the body had been identified as that of Lewis A. Finn, 72. He had been missing since July 20 when he left Palm Beach, Fla., to visit a brother in Yuma, Ariz.

Cause of death has not been established.

Gearty said information provided by Leonard LaFond, 20, and Jo Anne Severson, 18, resulted in finding the body. He added in a prepared statement:

"The body was found in the vicinity of the area named by LaFond and Miss Severson as the place where they disposed of the remains of 72-year-old Chicago chemist Lewis A. Finn."

LaFond and Miss Severson are being held on a charge of transporting a stolen automobile across state lines.

LaFond was arrested at Truth or Consequences, N.M., Aug. 20. Gearty said he was driving a 1948 Pontiac which had been traded for Finn's car at El Paso, Tex., Aug. 8.

Gearty said Finn's wallet and papers pertaining to Finn's car were found in LaFond's possession.

Miss Severson was arrested at San Antonio, Tex., and is being held there.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

One-World Idea

By George Sokolsky

The other day, I made a reference to Wendell Willkie, so I glanced through his published writings out of curiosity.

SOKOLSKY

In 1943, Willkie had published a book called "One World." The phrase thereupon went into the language with various connotations.

Willkie himself attributes much to Gardner (Mike) Cowles, Jr., and to Joseph Barnes who accompanied him on the trip around this one world. He said of these two:

"They have been most generous and helpful in the preparation of material for this book And though I am sure they would agree with many of my conclusions, they bear no responsibility for this expression of them."

-:-

IT SOUNDS LIKE a round-about way of saying that Mike Cowles and Joe Barnes, or one of them, did most of the putting down on paper. Joe Barnes had been very much interested in Russia, China and Japan, speaks Russian, has been a factor in the Institute of Pacific Relations.

But that is not what I want to write about. I want to call attention to a prophecy which Messrs. Willkie, Cowles and Barnes composed for this work, "One World":

"I believe that if Americans were forced to live hereafter face to face with an empire of such dimensions, our way of life would be little better than an armed camp, and our vaunted freedom would be little more than a fond hope. We should live in continual alarm, in endless war, under crushing armaments which it would be our constant endeavor to increase. Neither peace nor prosperity, neither freedom nor justice, could flourish in such a struggle for existence. . ."

-:-

WILLKIE'S REFERENCE was to Japan's conquests in Asia He was prophesying as to what would happen to the United States in a contest with the empire that Japan was carving in Asia Those conquests have been liquidated by war.

What Japan tried to do and failed, Soviet Russia has thus far succeeded in doing. The prophecy holds today despite Japan's failure; it holds because Russia has succeeded.

We are living in a curious era and to understand it we have to revise much that we had believed we knew. Maybe it is dull work restudying history and geography and the struggle of ideas.

Maybe it is more interesting to read about such men as Sherman Adams and Estes Kefauver. But they do not affect our lives or the lives of our children as vitally as the vast and almost unfathomable historic changes which are passing before our eyes and which are so swift that often we are unable to see them.

MARSHAL FOCH, in lectures given in 1917, foresaw what the world faced when he said:

"Truly a new era had begun, that of national wars which were to absorb into the struggle all the resources of the nation, which were to be aimed not at dynastic interests, not at the conquest or possession of a province, but at the defense or spread of philosophic ideas first, of principles of independence, unity, immaterial advantages of various kinds afterwards

"They were destined to bring out the interest and faculties of each soldier, to take advantage of sentiments and passions never before recognized as elements of strength. . ."

Unfortunately in the plethora of small matters, so fully reported in the multitude of media, we tend to miss the really big story of our age which is that ideas rather than countries are what we are fighting over.

-:-

IDEAS ARE OFTEN very dull and tiresome in their statement. Marilyn Monroe is more romantic and colorful than the fact that at the end of the Thirty Years' War, the German Empire consisted of 900 sovereignties. You say, "So what?"

Well, between 1648 and 1915, this number was reduced to 36. At the end of the Napoleonic Wars, only eight European countries held first rank; at the end of World War II, only five nations in the whole world held first rank officially and only three realistically.

Today, only two countries, the United States and Soviet Russia, are first-rate powers from a military standpoint and they are in a position to destroy each other

There is indeed a movement toward "One World"—but what has that movement done to us, the people of the world" Willkie's prophecy gives an answer that is worth thinking about.

Welfare Loot

By Victor Riesel

For almost two months now, the police and prosecuting authorities of five states have had a desk full of evidence on the disappearance of over 1¼ million dollars from the welfare funds of two midwest unions—the Laundry Workers and the Chicago Painters and Cleaners local.

VICTOR RIESEL

Yet there has been no action. Why?

This money was to make certain that the wife and kids eat if a working Joe breaks his leg or falls into a caldron or gets too old to work.

The money sort of oozed out of these funds in checks made out to cash — some for $50, but mostly for $400 up to $10,000 and even $37,000 in untraceable payments to somebody.

The Laundry Workers' agents seem to have misplaced exactly $900,000, while other money was spent by the Painters and Cleaners Union funds for the upkeep of four cars, for the reimbursement of members for being pallbearers at funerals of dead union brethren and for attending banquets to live union brethren.

FOR THE MOMENT I'll spare you the details of the use of this workers' money for airline tickets, private loans and trips to Miami.

The point here is that the Senate sub-committee on Welfare and Pension Funds, ably counseled and directed by attorney Paul J Cotter, passed on this actionable evidence to the insurance commissioners and attorneys general of five states, expecting them to move.

Cotter asked that he be kept informed and to date all he has received for his activity above the call of duty are some very pleasant acknowledgments.

True, this has been a hot summer and the pursuit of hot money would only raise the temperature in certain quarters, but it should be put on record that Cotter reports that he sent the evidence along to the insurance chiefs of New York, New Jersey, Illinois, Indiana and California, and to the attorneys general of Illinois, Indians, New York and California .

THESE DOCUMENTS may have been lost in the shuffle of summer vacations — which is human and most understandable. But now comes Yall.

This is a mighty serious business. Somebody somewhere must police these funds. Cotter reveals that he believes there is 20 million dollars in the pension funds covering the working men and women of the land.

In addition, he estimates that there are 100,000 welfare funds — the kind which cover the working guy with health, hospital and life insurance. These funds at any one moment have a gargantuan balance, such as John Lewis' welfare moneys, which reach over $103,600,000. But these funds pay out so rapidly that it is impossible to total the billions they're worth.

IT IS THIS VERY rapidity of payment from some of these funds which provides the loopholes for the loot The Senate sub-committee, which is part of the Senate Labor Committee headed by Illinois' Paul Douglas, knows full well that there are really no federal laws governing these multi-billion dollar labor-management funds.

The committee discovered this last July 20 when it called in representatives of all federal divisions having any contact with this kind of money.

Cotter and his colleagues questioned spokesmen for the Department of Justice, the Internal Revenue Bureau, the Federal Reserve System, the Department of Labor, the Department of Health and Welfare, the NLRB, bankers and the insurance industry.

Rex A. Collings, Jr , chief of the Justice Department's General Crimes section, laid it right on the line by pointing out that as long as the fund is set up according to statutory language, "There is no specific statute which makes it a federal offense for the managers of the (welfare and pension) trust to ransack it."

SO COTTER IS taking his time He has looked into funds in every field — auto, steel, ladies and men's garment manufacturing, electric production, mining and trucking. He is even examining those funds which are run directly by management, many of which are in the steel industry.

By early December he expects his committee to have the most complete knowledge of the welfare and pension field, hold oper hearings and make recommendations for a federal law.

But meanwhile, what about the missing 1¼ million dollars?

New Japan

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

How can America most help Japan to become prosperous and build up her armed forces to protect herself? This is a major diplomatic problem today which Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu and his beautiful daughter are trying to solve during a visit here.

HAL BOYLE

Shigemitsu, one of the friendliest faces the Japanese Empire has turned toward the United States in a time when it has felt friendship was important, had a leg blown off in Shanghai during the Japanese effort to pacify the Chinese.

Shigemitsu, convicted as a war criminal, is now again his nation's most popular political salesman in America.

OUR SITUATIONS do change. Ten years ago today, I wrote the following dispatch from the deck of the battleship Missouri:

"There were four tingling moments of high drama in the 18-minute ceremony during which Japan bound herself to lay down her arms unconditionally and bow to the dictates of the Allies.

"The setting was perfect—on the captain's promenade of this battleship, nicknamed 'Mighty Mo.' Allied ships ringed the Missouri in concentric circles of power. Outlined against the murky sky were dark green hills of a nation being occupied for the first time in its turbulent history.

"The first moment of drama came when Gen. MacArthur walked up the gangplank and moved across the deck with a stride lithe for a man of his years. You could feel the intensity of this man stimulate the crowd like a current of electricity. It was MacArthur's hour of a lifetime, and he had prepared for it by almost half a century of military service.

—:—

"THE NEXT MOMENT of emotional impact was the arrival of the Japanese delegation—four in civilian dress, seven wearing navy or army uniforms. They stood awaiting MacArthur's pleasure like stone gargoyles.

"Their stolid features showed neither guilt nor regret, pain nor resentment — only an abiding, watchful, animal-like patience You felt that only time would reveal what the patience stood for.

" 'How did those little men ever think they could get away with it?' one white-uniformed sailor whispered.

"The third highlight came when MacArthur began signing the surrender documents. He turned to Gen. Wainwright with a warm smile and handed him the first of the six pens he used. Then he looked deliberately, steadily and coldly at the Japanese before going on with the signing That gesture was for Bataan, for Corregidor — and the Japanese caught its significance fully.

"SILENCE FELL over the spectators as the two Japanese signatories put their names to the documents. They signed with Oriental slowness. Doffing his black silk topper, Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu sat with his wooden leg stiffly extended before him. The diplomat missed the inkwell with the first thrust of his pen. Then he laboriously scrawled his name on both documents—a copy for the Allies, one for Japan.

"The right hand of Gen. Hoshijiro Umezo, Japanese army chief of staff, shook slightly as he added his signature. Noting the rainbow row of ribbons on his dress uniform, an American spectator wisecracked: 'Whipped everybody but the United States'

"The Allied signatories signed quickly, one after the other

" 'Let us pray,' " said MacArthur, " 'that the peace be now restored to the world and that God will preserve it always. These proceedings are closed.'

"The worldwide blood bath at last was at an end.

"THEN CAME the spine-tingling climax. Forty-six great-winged superfortresses swept over the fleet like high graceful birds And behind them roared the 3rd Fleet's fighters, dive-bombers and torpedo planes.

"They flew over the massed decks of the Missouri in wave after wave after wave, until the whole bay throbbed. The battleship seemed almost to rock with the sound of their passing. There never was a more stirring flight, and it shook the hearts of the sailors and soldiers. It choked them with the pride of kinship in victory and made them feel as if they were swallowing their stomachs.

"There is no way to describe that mystic exultation. It gripped everyone. You felt suddenly that the ink on the documents, lying momentarily forgotten on the table, meant nothing And that the men who had signed were no more than symbols.

"YOU FELT, in your whole being suddenly, how peace had been grandly won—by the toil and blood of those airmen in the sky and their anonymous battle brothers of the earth and of the waters, lying in land graves and sea graves around the world.

"The planes came on and on resistlessly. You felt that the nation that produced them could send them on and on forever, until it achieved any noble purpose, any peace, however difficult

Brownell Calls For Vote Probe In Mississippi

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell promises to take "immediate and vigorous action" if he finds that Negro rights were violated in Mississippi's Democratic primary elections last month.

But two Mississippi leaders have indicated they don't think anything wrong will be found.

Brownell disclosed late Thursday FBI agents are already conducting an investigation.

"Reports indicate," he said, "that in some counties Negroes were refused ballots when they allegedly failed to answer correctly several irrelevant and frequently illegal questions.

"In other counties the indications are that ballots cast by Negroes were apparently not counted and that Negroes were kept from the polls by threats and intimidation."

Tom Tubb, chairman of the Mississippi Democratic Executive Committee, which conducted the elections, said Brownell "has a perfect right to investigate. Not that he'll find anything, though."

And Atty. Gen. J. P. Coleman, who won the Democratic nomination for governor, said he knew of "no violation of anybody's civil rights in connection with Mississippi primaries. My services as attorney general will be used to the limit in vindication of Mississippi's good name."

Coleman won the nomination for governor, equivalent to election in the southern state, in a runoff primary contest Aug. 23. More than 360,000 votes were cast for him and his opponent Paul Johnson.

It is not known how many of Mississippi's 22,000 registered Negro voters voted in the Aug. 23 runoff or in the original primary a month ago.

AND SHE WON TITLE. Renee Constant, 21, Paris cabaret dancer, displays the reasons which caused judges to award her title of gal with prettiest legs on the Cote d'Azur. The contest on the French Riviera took place in—you guessed it—Juan-les-Pins.

Wedding Cake Is Bought With Worthless Check

LUMBERTON, N.C. (AP)—Police were looking today for a young man who ordered a wedding cake with a worthless check.

M. O. Navy, operator of a bakery here, said the man ordered a $27, three-tier wedding cake for his "sister," and paid for it with a check for $27.45. He asked to pay $7 on account, and pocketed cash for the remainder.

The check bounced.

He pulled the same kind of deal at a tire recapping shop.

Weather Observers Set To Ride Merchant Ships

Loses Her Pet Dog

READING, Pa. (AP)—Miss Pennsylvania of 1955 may be wearing a frown on her pretty face at next week's Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, N.J. Miss Pam Ulrich said yesterday her mongrel dog Duffy was missing and added, "I'd be much happier during the contest if I knew Duffy was safe at home."

Sal Maglie Will Start in Opener of White Sox Series

Doby Slated To See Action As Tribe Seeks First Place

CLEVELAND (AP)—A surprise choice, Sal (The Barber) Maglie, hurls tonight for Cleveland as the Indians take on the Chicago White ox in the opener of a four-game struggle for the American League's first place.

It will be Maglie's first start in Cleveland since his sale by the New York Giants a month ago. The 37-year-old right-hander made only one start for the Tribe, a 7-5 loss in Washington.

Facing the Barber will be Connie Johnson, who pitched a 6-0 shutout against the Indians last July 9 in Chicago.

The White Sox, leading both the Indians and the New York Yankees by half a game, will be starting a 19-game tour of the circuit.

They have only five home games remaining—two with the Tribe and three against Kansas City—all to be played the final week of the season.

Will Rely on Curve

Cleveland Manager Al Lopez said he picked Maglie because he wanted a curve-ball specialist to go against the Sox.

Up to now Cleveland and Chicago have divided 16 games, the Indians winning four out of seven at home. In the past two seasons, they have finished with 11 games apiece.

Early Wynn is slated to pitch for the Indians tomorrow and Bob Lemon and Mike Garcia in a double-header Sunday.

In the final three games, the White Sox are expected to send Billy Pierce, Jack Harshman and Dick Donovan to the mound, though the order they will follow is not yet certain.

Maglie has been scored on only once in six relief appearances. The culprit, again, was Washington—juicy picking for almost everyone except the Indians—against whom the Yanks open three tonight.

Johnson will be seeking his seventh victory against three defeats.

Marion Confident

About the White Sox' pennant-winning chances, Manager Marty Marion said last night before leaving Chicago:

"We feel we'll win it, and it doesn't make any difference whether we're at home or on the road."

After the series with Chicago, the Indians play a doubleheader on Labor Day with Kansas City. Three games with Detroit Sept. 16, 17, and 18 will complete the Tribe's home schedule, while 14 games remain to be played on the road.

Herb Score and Bob Feller will take the mound against the Athletics.

Larry Doby, benched the past eight games because of a pulled leg muscle, is expected back in the lineup tonight.

Also in uniform will be three farmhands, infielders Rudy Regalado and Billy Harrell, both from Indianapolis in the American Association, and Bud Daley, a southpaw from Sacramento.

Toledo's Hopes For Fourth in AA Chase Cut

By The Associated Press

It hardly seemed possible, but the stretch battle among American Association runnersup has tightened still another notch.

Omaha trimmed St. Paul, 3-2, last night and forged into a virtual tie, one percentage point back, with Denver and Louisville for second place. All are 9½ games behind Minneapolis, already assured of the pennant. The regular season ends next Monday.

Toledo's hopes for a first division playoff berth faded slightly, however, as the fifth place Sox split with Indianapolis. They now are a game and a half farther back. The Indians won, 3-0, and Toledo then broke a four-game losing streak, 3-2.

Minneapolis had to go two extra frames in a scheduled seven-inning opener but kept Denver from gaining ground, 6-5. They battled to a 6-6 tie in the nightcap, called after 11 innings under the league curfew rule. Louisville bowed to Charleston, 4-2, and similarly failed to advance.

From 1933 through 1944 Hirsch Jacobs led the American horse trainers 11 of the 12 years.

Joe Nuxhall Wins 15th, Clips Giants

MILWAUKEE, Wis (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs and the Milwaukee Braves, two teams with only scant hopes of improving their present positions in the National League, will open a three-game series here tonight.

The Reds are in a slightly better position to improve themselves than the Braves as a result of yesterday's 7-4 victory over the New York Giants.

But things don't look good for either of the two teams Milwaukee stands 13 games behind first-place Brooklyn with only 21 games to play so its task looks hopeless

The Reds, in fifth place are four and a half games back of fourth place New York. Their chance of getting into the first division is a tough one.

At New York yesterday, the Reds started out as if the game was going to be the same as many of their recent tilts—a blowup in the first inning.

Two errors on the same play and a pair of singles gave the Giants a quick run but from there on it was all Cincinnati with Charlie Harmon hurting the Giants the most.

A walk, a single and a sacrifice fly gave the Reds the tying run in the second.

Harmon wrecked the Giants in the third. He hit a home run after Wally Post had singled and Gus Bell had walked.

The "little guys" in the Cincinnati lineup continued to pound away in the next two innings as the Redlegs romped into a 7-2 lead Roy McMillan's single, a double by Joe Nuxhall, a sacrifice fly by Johnny Temple and a wild pitch added two runs in the fourth

Harmon's double and McMillan's third single of the game gave the Reds their final run in the fifth.

The Redlegs were stymied after that and they had some anxious moments in the ninth as Dusty Rhodes and Alvin Dark hit successive home runs but Nuxhall put out the fire.

It was Nuxhall's 15th victory of the season to give him the most triumphs in a season for any Cincinnati pitcher since 1951 when Ewell Blackwell won 16.

Larson Addresses Club

Inexperience Biggest Hurdle Of Prexies, Kiwanians Hear

Inexperience is the biggest initial hurdle in preparing his Harding High School football squad for the coming season, Coach Gordon Larson told the Marion Kiwanis Club at Hotel Hotel Harding Thursday noon.

Lack of experience and speed were listed as the main concern of the new Harding mentor. He pointed out that only 7 of 28 letter winners are back from last year's squad.

Twenty-one juniors and "10 or 12" sophomores are included in the 46 gridders seeking berths on the squad. Larson said he was "very disappointed" at the turnout of sophomores Only 13 reported for the opening drills and 5 already have quit.

"THEY DIDN'T like the game well enough," he explained. "Football takes a boy with lots of desire," he said. "To me, football is a business," he told the club.

"If a boy doesn't have the desire, we don't want him," the Harding mentor continued. "He must have heart, desire and the will to win." Give a boy those essentials, Larson said, and he won't be cut from the squad.

In discussing the prospects, Larson listed his probable starting lineup as Ted Firstenberger and Phil Sykes at ends, Virgil Curren and Dave Townsend at tackles, Larry Coy and Gene Somerlot at guards, Gary Huber at center, Jed Middleton or Harold Jones at quarterback, Bill Smith and Elijah Green or Dick Pickens at the halfbacks, and Gary Williams or Tex Burns at fullback.

"We've got about 20 boys right now who can go for us," he said. "We're going to get some hustle. It will be an interesting season but it's going to be a scramble," he added.

THE HARDING team will be small, but Larson isn't too worried about that factor. "We like the small boys if they can get out and move," he said. The coach did express fear at the possibility of injury. Speaking of the middle part of the Harding schedule, he said: "I don't know whether we can recover from game to game"

Looking to the future, Larson expects big things from some of his sophomore performers. Among the newcomers at Harding he mentioned were Vaughn Williams, Dick Fleming and Dick Russell. He indicated they might see considerable action this year.

"You'll see us running. Passes and sweeps we like," he told his audience. "If we don't win them we'll at least give you an interesting game. I think we'll be able to move the ball," he added

Hitting at the lack of interest in football locally, Larson said: "I feel that the lack of interest at Harding stems from the adult level." He urged adults to take an active interest in athletics and said he believed that interest would soon spread to the student body. He also urged the public to support the Harding Booster Club in its current membership drive."

FOLLOWING HIS talk, Larson showed filmed highlights of his 1953 Akron South grid machine in action.

Larson was introduced by Jack Weis, Kiwanis Club program chairman. Russel Persing of Clyde was a visiting Kiwanian and had as his guest James E. Frew of Marion. Other guests included James B. Lillery and Charles R. Bond of Akron.

Don Campbell, Paul Cressor and Vernon Horst were welcomed as new club members.

Ray Reidenbaugh announced plans for the annual Kids' Day apple sale to be held Sept. 23 and 24 The apple sale is the only fund-raising campaign conducted by the club, with the proceeds used to help underprivileged children.

Leading Golfers Seeking Ryder Cup Team Berths

WETHERSFIELD, Conn (AP) — Several of the nation's top golf professionals, among them Sam Snead, have more than prize money at stake today when they tee off in the $20,000 Insurance City Open.

They'll be scrambling for points that mean berths on the 10-man U. S. Ryder Cup team, which will be selected after the final round on Monday.

Play in the fourth annual tourney got under way over the par 35-36—71 Wethersfield Country Club course this morning.

Snead, of White Sulphur Springs, W Va., the man with the erratic putter, seeks a spot on the Ryder Cup Team for the fifth straight year.

Doug Ford, Yonkers, N.Y., this year's PGA champion and Chick Harbert, Northville, Mich., the 1954 PGA titlist, automatically qualify for the Ryder Cup squad which meets a British team in the annual event

Harbert is not entered in this tournament.

Assured of Ryder Cup berths are Cary Middlecoff, Tommy Bolt, Ted Kroll, Jerry Barber and Bob Toski. All except Middlecoff are entered here.

Snead, with 400 Ryder Cup points is behind Toski in the Ryder standings

Close behind him are Jacko Burke, Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., 396; Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., 392, and Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va., 388, all entered here.

Shovel, OSCO Teams Still Deadlocked for First Place

Marion Power Shovel and OSCO remained tied for leadership in the Industrial League No. 1 as both squads turned in victories Thursday night at Garfield Park.

Shovel downed Local 750 6-4 in a nine - inning game and OSCO easily whipped Marion Engineer Depot 12-2 Both take 4-1 marks into next week's final session

Erie No. 1, first round champs over Shovel and OSCO downed Marion Metal 9-3 in the other contest last night.

TWO MARKERS in the top of the ninth on a single by Dwight Wilcox and homer by Higgins enabled Wilcox and Shovel to capture the opener.

Wilcox held Local 750 to six hits and gave them the lead temporarily on three runs in the fourth and another in the fifth. The winners came up with three tallies in the opening frame on hits by Higgins, Lindy Walters, Russ Gruber, and Bob Higgins but then were blanked until the seventh by Paul Belt of Local 750 A walk, infield out and Wilcox's hit drove in the tying run

Belt was tagged for eight hits in the losing cause Jack Higgins was the big gun for Shovel with a first inning triple along with his homer Paulus and Loper both connected for two hits and Don Johnson homered for the losers

OSCO scored all its runs in the first two frames to down the Depot nine in a five-inning tilt

Bud Thorpe held the losers to two hits while his teammates got to Cline for four runs in the first on hits by Thacker, R Frank, Hartley, Thorpe and an error to wrap up the game in the very first inning Eight more runs in the second on four walks, three errors, a single by Lempke and homer by R Frank concluded the scoring

THORPE GAVE up both Depot runs in the fourth

OSCO batters collected eight hits off Cline Hensel banged out both Depot hits

A six-run third carried Erie and Jim Kunkle to victory in the middle game last night

Kunkle held Marion Metal to a pair of first inning runs and one in the fourth while Erie tallied thrice in the first prior to the big third Eight hits off Trimmer of Marion Metal, three hit batsmen and a pair of walks accounted for Erie's run production

Kunkle was tagged for nine hits Max Roseberry, Paul Daum and Paul Rice shared hitting honors for Erie with two hits apiece Baker Curran and Trimmer also had two hits each for the losers.

Hold Same Spots

Contenders in AL Battle Fail To Move in August

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

For all the huffin' and puffin' they did during August, the three leading contenders for the American League pennant might just as well have taken a month's rest. It just didn't do 'em no good, no how.

For the past 32 days, Chicago Cleveland and New York (all idle yesterday) have been scraping to a standstill. Going into the final 3½ weeks of the season today, they're practically in the same spot they were Aug 1

On that date Chicago was in first place with a 614 percentage Cleveland and New York trailed with 603, each one game behind Today Chicago leads with a 608 percentage Cleveland and New York half a game behind, are tied for second with 603.

The only difference between them is that the White Sox, catching up in games played, had one more game than the Yankees and Indians and lost it.

For the month, New York was on top 13 days, Chicago 12 and Cleveland 5 The Indians, who also shared the lead for a day with New York, had the biggest August lead, two games The Yanks led by 1½, Chicago by one.

And with Chicago's Marty Marion and Cleveland's Al Lopez agreeing all the way, Yank Manager Casey Stengel says it's just "too awful even"

"All I know is," says Case, "that we have 23 more to play and must win 18 to make sure I realize that's 97 wins, but that's what it will take. I thought before it could be done with 94"

The Yanks were in the best position to get off quick on their way to 97 They opened a home stand this afternoon with the Washington Senators, whom they've beaten 11 times in 16, while the White Sox and Tribe go at each other in the first game of a four-game series at Cleveland tonight The Sox and Indians are 8-8 for the season

The only action yesterday was in the National League, where Brooklyn made the most of seven hits to thump Milwaukee 6-3; Cincinnati defeated New York 7-4, and Pittsburgh again edged St Louis 7-6.

The Brooks got their hits in the third and fifth innings to score their runs. Roy Campanella singled home two runs and scored another as Brooklyn trimmed the magic number to 10—any combination of 10 Dodger victories and Milwaukee defeats gives the Brooks the flag

The Pirates, now just 2½ games shy of seventh place St. Louis after spending the last three years in the cellar, won their sixth straight with Gene Freese knocking in the clincher in the ninth to break a 6-all tie Ramon Mejias had four RBIs with two doubles and a single for the Bucs.

C & O Clerks, which along with Moose No 1 swept three game sets from their opponents to take an early league lead, paced the teams with an 835-2388 effort

LaRue Gridders Slate Practice Game Saturday

Veterans include Phil Blue, Glen Isom, Gerald Isom and Larry Knapp, all backs, Joe Parish and Dan Snyder, ends, and Milton Lightfoot, center

Smith To Start At Halfback for Brown's Team

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Two rookie tars will adorn the starting lineups tonight when the world champion Cleveland Browns and the Los Angeles Rams play an exhibition National League football game in Memorial Coliseum

Coach Sid Gillman of the Rams said Ron Waller from Maryland, the club's second draft choice, would start the game at right halfback

Paul Brown, master of the Browns, nominated Bob Smith from Nebraska for the left halfback position, taking over from veteran Ray Renfro, temporarily

Otherwise, the teams will lead off with their regulars, with Norman Van Brocklin at quarterback for Los Angeles and George Ratterman at the same spot for the Browns.

Race Schedule Set At Local Speedway

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

The Gaiety Was Gone

In transferring the Dallas State Fair production of "One Touch of Venus" to television, NBC Producer Jack Rayel pointed out that the show had the great advantage of having been tried out and shaken down before a live audience before it was televised. He added that he hoped the telecast "would be the opening wedge for the nationwide televising of productions done by professional theater groups all over the country."

JOHN CROSBY

This is a splendid idea and a splendid hope and it's just too bad that things didn't work out any better than they did. "One Touch of Venus" was a big Broadway hit in 1943, conceivably because Mary Martin played the role of Venus. It is the story of a statue of Venus, that came to life to bewitch a reluctant barber and to befuddle and confuse the rest of the 20th century characters.

-:-

HOWEVER, ONCE YOU had absorbed the original idea of a statue coming to life, much of the gaiety and all the suspense seemed to evaporate. After that the authors, Ogden Nash and S. J. Perelman, seemed to have a terrible time keeping Venus in water hot enough to provide a plot.

I have seen quite a few of these old Broadway hits transferred to television by now and each one has had an overpowering smell of greasepaint about it. In this one, a couple of low comedy characters who might have been reasonably acceptable on the broad confines of a stage, were almost embarrassingly bad under the intimate scrutiny of a camera.

Janet Blair took over the old Mary Martin role and played it as if she were Mary Martin, which she isn't. She even sang with almost exactly the same phrasing. In Miss Blair's defense, I ought to add that every girl who follows Miss Martin in a role seems to do the same thing.

Somehow, Miss Martin puts her imprint on a role with such authority that no one seems to be able to get away from it ever after. Two other performances, those of Russell Nype as the reluctant barber and George Gaynes as an art gallery director, were a little too mannered and stagey, too.

THIS IS A PITY because a try-out for TV productions, especially anything as elaborate as 90-minute musicals, is a very good idea. TV so far has produced some very sound plays and playwrights. It has not yet produced very many really memorable performances of acting and I think one reason is that the actors don't have a chance to try out their performances before a live audience.

Tryouts should help give us some really polished and finished acting performances and I devoutly hope that the experience of "One Touch of Venus" won't lead to abandoning the idea.

I DON'T KNOW WHAT was at the bottom of the Colgate people's mind when they decided to turn over all of last Sunday's comedy hour to child performers. Were they trying to lure the kiddie audience away from Ed Sullivan? Or were all the adult performers out of town? Or did they harbor the wild hope they might uncover another Shirley Temple? Or what?

At any rate there were an awful lot of kiddies on view—singing, tapdancing and even telling jokes. It was rather difficult to single out which of these activities they were least equipped to do well.

Offhand, I should say the jokes suffered the worst. The jokes weren't very good jokes but they deserved better treatment than that. But, I don't suppose the jokes were manhandled much worse than the songs. The kids certainly butchered some good music.

-:-

I HAVE NOTHING against child performers, you understand, except that a solid hour of them is about 50 minutes too much. Of course, it's nice to see the youngsters starting to learn the rudiments of show business as such a tender age. Eventually, they'll all grow up and I'm all for having them back on the show again some time In about 15 years

Brave Youth Appears In 4-H Club Style Review

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Girls from the state's 4-H Clubs staged a style show at the Ohio State Fair Thursday.

The girls modeled dresses of their own creation.

Then out walked David Mitten 20, of Stowe, in a blue wool suit made by his sister Martha, 18.

The awards for dressmaking for tailoring won't be decided for another day, but David walked away with the bravery medal.

Maine has probably 10 times as many deer as it did when the first settlers arrived. Fifteen years ago the annual deer kill was only about 22,000 in contrast to 37,000 in 1954.

Galion Board Completes Plans For Opening of School Tuesday

GALION — Several measures were approved at a special meeting of the Galion Board of Education Thursday afternoon to complete plans for the opening of the city schools next Tuesday.

The board contracted for the purchase of group plan student accident insurance, for insurance of school buses, approved substitute teachers' list, employed bus drivers, employed three teachers and approved purchase of a new algebra textbook.

An innovation in the physical education department was the approval of physical examinations for all physical education students, grades 7-12, to determine if some pupils are able to participate in all activities without handicap to their health.

Insurance Approved

Group plan of student accident insurance was authorized and a contract approved with the Nationwide Insurance Co. The board will hold the policy and the insurance will be available to all pupils who care to be covered at $1.25 per pupil. The insurance would cover all school-sponsored activities with the exception of high school football and the pupil while on the way to and from school, in the school or on the school grounds.

The board also decided to purchase insurance for its fleet of six buses and one truck from the Galion Insurors Association after considering four bids. The cost is $351.97, effective Sept. 1, 1955, to Sept. 1, 1956.

Bus drivers approved for the year at the same salary as last year, $80 per month, Sept. through May, plus $10 per month for bus storage if they store the bus, were: Lawrence Schreck, Wayne Seitz, Elwood Lease, Max Friend, Ellis Swick and George Bonin.

Transportation Contract

The board also contracted with Marvin Adams, superintendent of the Crawford County Children's Home, for transportation of children from the home to the schools at $111 per month. Reimbursement for the 1954-55 school year also was made to Adams in the approved rate of $2.25 per pupil per month by the State Department of Transportation. The total was $1,000 and of this amount, $414 was deducted from other school districts that have children in residence at the home, while the balance of $586 will be paid by the local schools for children from the Galion School District who have residence at the home.

Rental of the Free Methodist Church basement for an east side kindergarten was renewed at a rate of $130 per month, a reduction of $5 per month over last year.

Purchase of 125 copies of Fehr First Course in Algebra, at $2.25 per copy was authorized. It is the most recent edition of the text now in use.

Employment of Mrs. Lawrence Schreck, elementary teacher, Mrs. Ronald Rick, art instructor, and Miss Ethel Merwin, elementary teacher, was approved by the board.

The list of substitute teachers for the year was approved, and includes: Mrs. Russell Smith, Mrs. Lowell Gottfried, Mrs. K. E. McWilliams, Mrs. Clarence Stump, Mrs. Delma Fisher, Mrs. George Joachim, Mrs. Harold Miley, Mrs. Norman R. Somerville, Mrs. Marvin Fogt, Mrs. J. C. Shumaker, elementary teachers; and Mrs. R. R. Elliker, Mrs. Piner Long, Mrs. C. Ritchey and Mrs. Everett Shirk, junior-senior high.

North Dakota ranks 9th among states in butter production.

2 Business Places To Be Constructed Soon in Crestline

CRESTLINE — Two new business buildings are to be constructed in Crestline in the near future.

Robert and Leonard Sutter plan to have two buildings, which they recently purchased, razed and a new building for their grocery store erected. One of the buildings was purchased from Mrs. Edna Nelson and the other formerly housed the Blocker Restaurant. While the new building is being constructed the Sutters will continue their trade in the room recently vacated by Anatra's Clothing Store on W. Bucyrus St. They plan to move their stock of groceries and meats to the room over the Labor Day weekend.

The Ohio Oil Co. of Findlay is planning to build a diner at a site on the corner of Seltzer and W. Main Sts., owned by a filling station operated by Stanley Eckstein and located adjacent to the diner site. Council recently gave the company permission to cut the curb in front of the property.

Crawford County Youth Wins Ohio FFA Honor

BUCYRUS — Donald Schiefer, 15, a sophomore at nearby Holmes-Liberty High School, placed second in the state in the Future Farmers of America horseshoe pitching contest at the Ohio State Fair in Columbus this week. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Schiefer.

As second place winner, young Schiefer was awarded a 20-inch trophy. Trophies were awarded by the Ohio Horseshoe Pitchers' Association.

University of California at Los Angeles has received more than $10,000,000 in gifts from individuals, trusts, corporations and foundations in its 35-year existence.

HEPCAT HEPBURN

BILLED as the world's highest paid actress for her role in Tolstoi's great classic, War and Peace, actress Audrey Hepburn really works for her wages when she does the gavotte for a scene from the picture. The gavotte is a lively dance of French peasant origin. In order to get the sequence filmed in one week, Audrey and partner Don Little had to dance more than twelve hours a day. Don, a gallant sort of chap, is quoted as saying that he came to Rome for a vacation and he got one "by dancing with Hepburn, about which all dancers," he says, "dream." Audrey, who won an Academy Award for another movie shot in Italy, can now be considered an expert on this colorful dance. A visiting cameraman on the set came away with these photos of Audrey taking her turns at the various phases of the dance, which is a highlight scene in the film.

Cleveland Man Held in $4,000 Fund Shortage

CLEVELAND (AP)—A former official of the Cleveland chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity, was picked up by police last night for questioning in a shortage of about $4,000 in chapter funds.

The former official was Arman L. Merriam, a suburban Cleveland Heights public relations counselor, secretary-treasurer of the chapter for more than five years until its trustees relieved him of his duties a month ago.

Police also confiscated the chapter's books, checks and minutes at the Caxton Building where Merriam had an office until last month.

Harry Volk, editor of the suburban Heights Sun-Press and president of the fraternity chapter, said he and other officers had tried for several weeks to obtain a full accounting of the funds.

Volk said it had been discovered that 40 newsmen paid their initiation fees in the last year, but never were enrolled as members in the fraternity's national office in Chicago That represented a $1,000 shortage.

Also missing was a $1,400 fund set up to pay expenses when the chapter was host last November to the fraternity's national convention in Columbus A $300 hotel bill turned up yesterday and a number of other bills are unpaid, Volk said.

No charges have been filed. Merriam was not available for comment.

Ohio Insurance Firm Moving Into 14th State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Twenty years from now, Nationwide Insurance will have fulfilled the promise of its new name, its president, Murray D Lincoln, predicts

By 1975 the firm—known formerly as the Farm Bureau Insurance Companies—will be operating in all 48 states, Lincoln said at a ceremony inaugurating the name change yesterday.

To give substance to his forecast, Lincoln announced Nationwide yesterday added the 14th state—Michigan—to its operating territory. Heretofore, three Farm Bureau firms have operated in 13 states and the District of Columbia

Lincoln told 2,000 home office employes that within two decades, the company would have nine million policies in force compared with the present three million and that assets would top one billion dollars compared with the present total of 235 million dollars.

"Seconds from Death"

IF . . .

"IF everyone who drives a car could lie a month in bed
With broken bones and stitched-up wounds, or fractures of the head,
And there endure the agonies that many people do;
They'd never need preach safety any more to me or you,

IF everyone could stand beside the bed of a close friend,
And hear the doctor say, "no hopes," before that fatal end,
And see him there unconscious, never knowing what took place,
The laws and rules of traffic I am sure we'd soon embrace.

IF everyone could meet the wife and children left behind,
And step into the darkened home where once the sunlight shined,
And look upon the vacant chair where Daddy used to sit,
I'm sure each reckless driver would be forced to think a bit.

IF everyone would realize pedestrians on the street
Have just as much the right-of-way as those upon the seat,
And train their eyes for children who run recklessly at play,
This steady toll of human lives would drop from day to day.

IF everyone who drives a car would heed the danger signs
Placed by highway engineers who also marked the lines
To keep the traffic in the lane and give it proper space,
The accidents we read about could not have taken place.

And last—if he who takes the wheel would say a little prayer,
And keep in mind those in the car dependent on his care,
And make a vow and pledge himself to never take a chance,
The great crusade for safety then would suddenly advance."

Boy, 16, Admits One Theft, but Denies Another

A 16-year old youth taken into custody Wednesday by city police and accused of stealing fender skirts has admitted instead the theft of a set of hub caps, Police Chief Thomas Coon said today.

In an inquiry by Juvenile Officer, Sgt. Virgil Campbell, Thursday, it was found that the youth had not stolen the fender skirts, that they were thrown into his car by other unidentified youths as a prank.

The fender skirts were reported stolen from his car by James M. Rush, 18, of 254 Blaine Ave. at 1:05 p.m. Wedesday. In making the report he implicated the 16-year old and later police found the fender skirts behind the front seat of the youth's car.

During the questioning Thursday, the 16-year old told police that he had stolen the hub caps from an Oldsmobile while it was parked in the parking lot behind the shopping center at Oak and W. Center Sts. sometime within the last two or three weeks. Police had no report of the theft of the hub caps and said the owner may obtain them by identifying them at the police station.

Sales Tax Receipts Show Decline Here

Although sales tax receipts over Ohio were more than $1,000,000 higher for the week ending Aug. 20 than for the same week last year, the receipts in Marion County showed a decline of more than $2,000 for the week.

State treasurer Roger W. Tracy's weekly report shows Marion County collections amounted to $19,851 for the week, compared with $22,101 for the corresponding week in 1954. It was the first decline here in the current fiscal year.

Morrow County also showed a slight decline, but all other counties surrounding Marion County showed increases.

C. & O. Net Income Increases for 1955

Chesapeake and Ohio Railway reported August net income of $5,292,000, equal to 66 cents a common share, compared with $3,376,000, or 42 cents, in August, 1954.

Net income for the eight months of this year was $36,930,000, or $4.62 a common share, against $21,022,000, or $2.63 per share, for the comparable 1954 period.

Gross revenues for August were $35,099,000, compared with $26,216,000 in 1954. The gross for the eight-month period was $244,068,000, against $197,479,000 for the same time last year.

Japan for First Time Studies Program of Controlling Floods

TOKYO (UP) — Fifteen thousand Japanese flood-fighters are holding mass drills in an attempt to cut down this country's annual $800,000,000 flood damage figure.

Civilians and members of the Japanese army are checking emergency communications, transportation and facilities for aiding possible flood victims throughout southwestern Japan.

They are making on-the-spot surveys of the areas expected to be hit—the same every year—and, for about the first time in Japan's flood-ridden history, organized advance steps to prevent national disaster are planned.

The threat of floods this year is the same as in 1953 and 1954 when overflowing rivers wrought havoc in southwestern Japan. The repair of broken bridges, dikes and levees in the area has not kept up with seasonal damage.

Long-range Effects

With heavy rains and a rough monsoon season already striking at river sources, efforts are being made to bolster the levees. But only 25 per cent of the anti-flood measures have been completed under this year's $100,000,000 flood-fighting budget — an insufficient stop-gap allocation.

The rainfall in southern Japan averages five feet annually.

Every year loss of life from drowning, landslides and ensuing sickness ranges from 250 to 1,000. And damage to farms and homes runs close to one billion dollars.

The long - range effects mean more than the visible damage. Japan's delicate balance of food gets thrown off and scanty supplies from the drier areas have to be diverted to aid the flood sufferers.

Fatalism

Rationed rice disappears and the "open market" price zooms.

The United States has been coming to the aid of flood-stricken areas every year with food, medicine, manpower, clothing and construction equipment. But American authorities here are beginning to feel Japan should do more to prevent floods instead of going through a yearly emergency after they happen.

Various opposition Japanese political parties, notably the Communists, blame the government for not taking adequate flood-control measures and for campaigning while making publicized donations to the sufferers.

Red China last year donated several thousand dollars to the flood victims in Kyushu to the accompaniment of tremendous amounts of propaganda over the official Peiping radio, blaming the Tokyo administration, the American Army and Washington's foreign policy for the situation.

The Red propaganda tied in the problem of big American military bases in Japan—always a touchy issue in this land-short country—with the lack of food supplies after the flood.

And the flood sufferers themselves, while dressed in U. S.-supplied clothing and eating U. S. Army-donated food, listened to the Communist line because they were cold, wet and still hungry after missing their usual heavy rice meal.

The Japanese government's answer is that it is doing all it can do with the funds available.

And traditional Oriental fatalism about natural disasters adds to a general lethargy to take steps to minimize them. The feeling is usually summed up in the words: "it can't be helped."

Parties in School Area Protested by Residents

Complaints of "all-night" parties in a field to the west behind Edison Junior High School were under investigation today by Marion police.

Reports given to police were that the parties are being held two or three nights a week and on the latest one the participants had thrown beer and soft drink bottles against the school building, breaking them and scattering the glass over sidewalks and grass. In addition to this, building custodians also found dill pickles, potato chips, papers and sacks scattered about the grounds.

Actress Names Jess Barker in Paternity Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A 25-year-old actress charges that actor Jess Barker, 41, estranged husband of Susan Hayward, is the father of the child she expects in December.

Miss Yvonne Doughty asks the court to order Barker to pay $1,000 immediately for her hospitalization and support later for the child.

The complaint, filed Thursday, asserts that Barker fathered the child last February or March. Miss Doughty appeared with Marlon Brando in the film "The Wild One."

Through his attorney, Barker denied the paternity charges as "absolutely false."

Miss Hayward obtained an interlocutory decree against him a year ago but the actor has appealed.

30 Years of Tinkering Without an Answer

Solution to Farm Surplus Long Sought

By WARREN ROGERS, JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The world will beat a path to the door of the man who invents a solution to America's problem of farm surpluses.

Third of a Series

It is a five billion dollar puzzle which has defied solution for nearly 30 years in its modern form.

There are people galore who think they have the answer. But among themselves they can't agree half the time on what the problem is.

What is the American farm problem? Its most distressing symptom today is the $5,370,029,000 surplus taken off the farmer's hands by the government. But what's the cause?

"Too much production," says one school.

"Not enough consumption," says another.

—:—

IF OVERPRODUCTION is the cause, the cure would seem to be in holding down production. The department of Agriculture tries to do this by controlling planting and marketing under laws dating back to and beyond 1933 when the government paid farmers to kill their pigs and plow under their cotton.

Increased consumption is a goal too. The most notable success has been with the dairy surplus. The school lunch program pours tons of milk into school children who, in many cases, would otherwise have none. Melted down butter sent India as a gift is accepted as a delicacy.

America's farm laws are aimed at guaranteeing the farmer that, barring some freak of weather or bugs, he can count on a certain minimum return for his crop. That takes much of the guess out of a "by guess and by God" calling.

THE LAWS do not discriminate among farmers. The top 2 million who produce half the country's farm goods by value get the same treatment as the 7 million who turn out 39 per cent, or the 12 million who live on the fringes of starvation.

The Agriculture Department reckons its support of the farmer in terms of purchasing power. It does this with a standard called parity, which one farmer once described this way: "If you can sell a truckload of wheat and buy with the money as much food, clothing, building materials, farm machinery, fertilizer and the like as you could in the five years, 1910-14, your wheat is selling at the parity price."

THE 1910-14 BASE period has been brought up to date, but he had the general idea.

Defenders of parity say it does no more for the farmer than a wage contract does for his city cousins. Detractors decry it as an outmoded link with the past, a bar to incentive and efficiency and a breeker of government controls.

Charles Brannan thought he had a better solution than parity — pegged price supports. As secretary of agriculture in the Truman administration in 1949 he put his plan to Congress this way:

"Let prices go down if they will. Then let the government pay farmers a guaranteed annual cash income for producing our food. Thus consumers would get cheaper food, and farmers would get their income anyhow and everybody would be happy."

—:—

CONGRESS WAS far from happy with the Brannan subsidy plan, especially his inability to say precisely how much it would cost. It was killed, but it left a lively ghost.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson announced Aug. 13 a kind of subsidy plan for cotton starting after next Jan. 1. Last April he put subsidy payments in effect for wool and mohair, trying to build up the industry.

Still the subsidy vs. supports battle roars on. Every now and then a man like Sen. Eastland (D-Miss), himself a farmer, steps into the middle of the fray with an idea to deal with a particular product.

Eastland came up this year with what he called a "bold new plan" for cotton. In essence it was to lower cotton supports from 90 to 80 per cent of parity, increase alloted acreage from 18 million to 23 million acres and sell surplus cotton on the world market at going prices.

EASTLAND ALSO IS pressing for legislation which would raise the standard of cotton eligible for supports. If accepted, that would discourage production of low grade cotton which makes up the bulk of the U. S. surplus.

Any such talk of pushing U. S. surplus cotton on the world market brings howls from inside the country as well as abroad. Textile firms fear imports of goods made from such low cost U. S. cotton. Some U. S. investment firms have millions tied up in foreign cotton with which it would compete.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson left last Sunday for Western Europe to try to explain the surplus program and perhaps make some sales.

The head of a U. S. farm delegation which visited Russia said last week an active effort should be made to open up the Soviet market. W. V. Lambert, dean of agriculture at the University of Nebraska, told the Washington Press Club "the time is ripe" for disposing of the U. S. surplus on a "huge" Soviet market.

Galion Proprietor Is Fined $100 for Illegal Liquor Sale

GALION — A sale of liquor to minors cost Robert Via, 43, proprietor of Roberts Party Store, $50 and costs when he was given a hearing Wednesday afternoon before Mayor Francis C. Schalip. A 30-day jail sentence was suspended when Via paid the fine and costs. He pleaded guilty to the charge of selling intoxicating liquor to minors.

The sale was reported by an employe of the store, Edward Barnes, 19, of Galion, the purchaser, passed the liquor to two younger boys. A police officer later caught the boys with their purchase.

Barnes entered a plea of guilty to the charge of buying the liquor and was fined $25 and costs. Ten dollars of the fine was suspended on good behavior.

In another case, Thursday morning, the mayor fined Francis Grover Nelson, 31, of Galion, $100 and imposed a sentence of 30 days in jail for operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent and without a driver's license. He was arrested Wednesday at 2:30 p.m.

Whirlpool Group Holds Meeting, Selects Officers

Members of the Whirlpool Corp. administrative and supervisory staff of the Marion Division held the first meeting of the Whirlpool management club at Hotel Harding Thursday night.

Officers were nominated and elected following the dinner. Named president of the group was Clarence Freeman, supervisor of assembly. Richard Coleman, plant engineer, was chosen vice president. Arthur Lorertzen was named secretary. He is supervisor of production planning at the new plant. Leonard Kline, tool procurement, was elected treasurer of the club.

The officers will appoint various committees from among the 48 persons attending Thursday's meeting. The group will hold monthly meetings, with the program usually consisting of a speaker and social activities.

Forewarned Is Forearmed

The Senate Civil Service subcommittee's hearings on security never will settle the issue between those who want to run the federal security program like a roughshod Russian purge and those who think the dignity of man in the United States calls for something a little more civilized.

It is not likely this issue ever can be settled. Airtight security for the federal government and complete protection of individual rights are in conflict in so many places that each security case must be judged on its merits. Since that kind of judging entails evaluation of all kinds of evidence by all kinds of people, there always will be error, and sometimes there will be malice.

But for those reconciled to believing that the best possible solution of the security problem will be none too good, there is beginning to be a fresh complication.

The security of the United States is a continuing necessity; it is not something that can be turned on and off. Yet security terms have undergone wild fluctuations, particularly in regard to attitudes toward the Soviet Union.

Those who were too soft in their attitudes during the thirties and forties now are being judged by those who have adopted the stiffening attitude that has been common so far in the fifties.

But there now arises the likelihood that those who take too stiff an attitude now may be judged, in turn, by others taking the unbending attitude called for by the latest shift in the winds of international politics.

Scarcely a day passes without some new gesture of official approchement with the Soviet Union. Any U. S. citizen who took an overstarchy attitude toward Soviet agriculture officials during their recent visit, or any citizen caught making a fist at the innumerable other Russians being encouraged to come to this country to learn all its secrets might be looked at askance for bucking the official policy—not right away but in years to come when investigators finally get around to finding out who was guilty of bucking the doctrine of peaceful coexistence.

France Will Muff It

The pattern in French politics seems changeless. A government is forced to grapple with a crisis, as Premier Faure's government has been forced to grapple with a crisis in Morocco and Algeria.

Before the Faure regime, the government of Mendes-France grappled with a crisis in Indochina, then with a crisis in domestic finance. It was destroyed for its pains, as Premier Faure is expected to be destroyed for trying to stop useless bloodshed in Morocco.

The destroying will be done by his political enemies—men who play politics for the sake of politics and have no interest in the French republic, the principles of liberty and justice on which the republic was founded, or the esteem of the society of nations in which France once was a major power.

It will be done by stone-age political conservatives at one extreme and hyena Communists at the other. The conservatives still believe in shooting out all problems arising from unrest under colonialism. The Communists know of nothing that serves their purposes better than stand-patters who like to shoot things out.

France will muff its chance to get out of a mess in North Africa. It muffed its chance to get out of a mess in Indochina and to straighten out its financial tangle—and always for the same reason.

Its politicians are no longer interested in France. They are interested only in their own political purposes. They have only one thing in common—to destroy any premier who puts France above politics. Faure looks like their next victim. Their final victim will be France, itself.

No Baseball Without Fans

So much deep-dish thinking is being done about baseball this year that an offhand comment sounds like sacrilege.

But aren't the deep-dish thinkers overlooking something?

Aren't they overlooking what happened to the Braves in Boston, the Athletics in Philadelphia, the Browns in St. Louis—and seems to be happening now to the Dodgers in Brooklyn, the Giants in the Bronx and, in some degree, to every team, particularly to the ones which have not changed locations?

They all ran out of fans.

Fans will go to watch their favorite baseball team day in and day out, year in and year out, win or lose, good or bad, because they have taken it to their hearts. And fans are getting scarcer, especially in cities whose baseball teams have been around so long they are fixtures.

Fixtures don't make fans. Enthusiasm makes fans.

New ball parks, new rules, faster games, different ticket deals, more comfortable seats and better transportation would make fans happier, but they wouldn't make fans. That is baseball's problem as the 1955 season goes into the final month—to generate the enthusiasm that once made people so crazy about baseball they would endure any and all inconvenience to see a game.

Mightier Than A-Bomb

By David Lawrence

Moral Force Most Powerful in World

There's a big game going on in the world between the East and the West. Some call it the "cold war." Some call it "peaceful coexistence." Others call it "The Geneva Era of Good Feeling."

Lawrence

The odd part of it all is that very few persons, except those who are on the inside of governments, know really what's going on and what the various moves portend.

Thus, some observers are convinced there'll be no war and that "an atomic stalemate" is in progress. Other observers argue that, because war can be more horrible than ever before, there is no alternative now except to negotiate and bargain and reach some agreement with gangster governments whose word has repeatedly been proved worthless, no matter what the pledges.

The big story of the age is not the stalemate but the ferment behind the stalemate. The big discovery is that peoples are slowly but surely becoming aware that they can control their own destiny. Once upon a time President Woodrow Wilson described the gradual workings of a people's will by the phrase — "moral suasion."

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER a couple of weeks ago in his speech to the American Bar Association at Philadelphia, had the same thing in mind when he referred to "peaceful change." He said:

"We must not think of peace as a static condition, in world affairs. That is not true peace, nor in fact can any kind of a peace be preserved that way. Change is a law of life, and unless there is peaceful change, there is bound to be violent change."

This is the statement of a great truth. Though obvious, it is often overlooked. There is a tendency by the skeptics to demand simplified solutions. Thus, persons go to Soviet Russia and come back saying they didn't see any signs of unrest or possible revolution.

These things, of course, are never uncovered to the naked eye. They exist in the hearts and minds of silent millions who at the opportune moment follow the leadership of a handful of courageous men.

The greatest fear of the men in the Kremlin today is of revolution in their midst. If they hesitate to go to war now, it's because the Red Army would reflect the rebellious fellings of the whole population, and a few army leaders could change the entire picture in a few hours.

THE SAME THING is true in any dictatorship country. Peron's troubles in Argentina aren't academic. They are due to a ferment inside his country. It's a kind of "peaceful change," and it is constant and unrelenting in pressure.

Unfortunately, too many observers don't understand moral force. They reckon always in military terms. The presence of a huge military force in the West, and especially America's air power, is a big influence in preventing war, but the biggest is the unwillingness of the Russian people to be sacrificed.

The greatest danger is that war will come anyway because the Soviet rulers may take a chance and mistakenly believe they can hold their people together with an aroused patriotism. But an unpopular government in 1917 in St. Petersburg didn't keep the Russian armies who were fighting the enemy from making a separate peace with the enemy.

The policy of the United States today under President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles is the most constructive this country has ever adopted. It calls not for the use of physical force — in fact, every effort is made to renounce or outlaw force except in case of attack —but for the exertion of moral force.

THIS IS THE persistent, steady, uninterrupted pressure through world opinion to convince peoples behind the iron curtain that their safety and their liberty can be best assured by following the doctrines of freedom proclaimed by the West.

The process may take years to achieve big results. It will require patience. There is no plan to precipitate a climax now. The United States has merely announced that it will not accept the "status quo." This does not mean it must bow to its enemies and strike a bargain. There is no more sense in our government bargaining with the gangsters of the East than there would have been for the sponsors of decent government in Chicago to accept a "modus vivendi" for rule by the Capone gang in one section of the city. Moral force means sticking to moral principles and holding out for the only kind of agreement that ever will be worth while — an agreement with a free government representing a people free to choose its own government without coercion of any kind.

THE PEOPLES of the satellite states know now that America has not abandoned them, that self-liberation is still regarded as a goal they can strive for. As long as America doesn't discourage the peoples behind the iron curtain or let them think they are to be forsaken, the influence of moral force will continue to permeate the entire area dominated by the Soviets until the dictatorship collapses from within by reason of the upward pressure of the people themselves.

That's the real alternative to a world war. That's why the "cold war," in which Russia is spending billions in propaganda, can't be permitted to be lost by default in a wave of confused optimism, wishful thinking, and craven willingness to make deals with gangsters regimes.

Sen. Knowland's Role

By Raymond Moley

It's a long way from the Golden Gate to London, but a visitor in either region is likely to encounter a good many questions about William Knowland, senior senator from California and leader of the Senate Republicans.

In England last spring I heard and read a good many animadversions about Knowland's attitude toward the Chinese Communists and our obligations toward the Nationalist government on Formosa.

This I could dismiss as the sentiment of a country eager for a full resumption of trade with China under almost any conditions, however humiliating. Moreover, the British, while generally friendly to the United States, always have a favorite American whipping boy. This year they have both Knowland and Nixon in that role; last year it was McCarthy; and for years before, it was Sen. Taft and ex-President Hoover.

IN CALIFORNIA, which has always seen China and Japan from an angle quite unlike the visible to the British, the prestige of Knowland is very high. In 1952 his majority over his opponent in the primary which decided the election was, as I remember something like 1,600,000. That is, as far as I have been able to learn, the largest vote of confidence ever given in the United States for a candidate for any office, excepting the presidency and vice presidency.

Californians are proud of their representation in Washington, which includes the vice president; the chief justice, Knowland; Thomas Kuchel, the junior senator; and an able and aggressive group of congressmen. It is seldom that a single state, except occasionally New York, has been so fortunate.

Criticism of a man as prominent as Knowland is inevitable, and there is some here in California. Two complaints are that he has been something less than assiduous in his attentions to his vast constituency, and that as leader of his party in the Senate he should follow the lead of the President in all things.

AN ANSWER TO the first of these complaints can be found in the Congressional Record, and to the second in the Constitution of the United States.

A party leader in the Senate has an exacting, all-absorbing job. He must be there almost continuously, and there are few discussions on the floor in which he is not involved. He must maintain unity within his party membership, watch the opposition continously, determine to a degree the order of business, and keep informed on a thousand different subjects involved in legislation.

The burden on a Senate leader is graphically reflected in the tragic illness of the Democratic leader, Sen. Johnson of Texas. Those whose memory runs back eighteen years can recall a heart attack by a Senate leader, Joseph Robinson, which had an even more tragic end.

No doubt Knowland would spurn any claim for sympathy because of the burden he must bear as Taft's successor. But it might serve his critics well if they would realize the facts. They might also ponder the classic reply of Edmund Burke to his constituents in Bristol in which he reminded them "I could not court you and serve you too."

—:—

THE ARGUMENT that the Senate leader represents the president is wholly wrong. Perhaps this idea grew up during the days when F. D. R. sought to run both the executive and the legislative departments of government. Knowland is at once the floor manager for his Republican Senate colleagues and an independent senator. He is not responsible to the President. He is in a coordinate but separate department of government.

Knowland to those who know him well is a man of character, convictions, and courage. He can well survive the attacks of his critics at home and abroad.

Starting a Trend

By TRUMAN TWILL

The front-seat situation on the streets and highways does not seem to be getting attention from the safety experts, the traffic department or the moralists, but it is getting attention from some of us who have had our bifocals brought up to date within the last five years.

There is a cuddling trend no longer confined to the young. Cuddling has been taken up by the middle-aged, the elderly and the married.

Husbands and wives who have been looking at each other over the coffee cups for 10 years or more may be seen in the front seats of automobiles as close together as if they were struggling for survival on rafts in an ocean storm.

They may be seen so close together, in fact, that the car behind them probably belongs to one of their friends making a positive identification before starting a rumor.

That is how this report was begun, checking the identity of the doll riding close by a local doctor in 5 p.m. traffic and discovering at great personal risk she was the woman he married 10 years ago. That was that.

But it stirred curiosity. Subsequently, it was noted that the wives of other men who hadn't been one-arm drivers since the old Dodge went to a standard shift were sitting close together, too.

Either it's wide front seats built for three, the popularity of automatic transmissions, the increasing scarcity of men, or the belated realization among married women in this country that it takes two to tango.

Or it could be too broad an observation of something that possibly looks like a trend only because of wishful thinking.

Front-seat cuddling once was given a blow that would have been fatal in some depraved country whose automotive designs are not changed frequently. It was the divided front seat, popular for only a short time. In its most extreme form, this monstrosity turned into the bucket seat common in foreign cars that are intended for transportation only.

In the United States, the automobile has social implications as well. This is to be expected in a country whose inhabitants spend a large fraction of their lifetimes on wheels.

Perhaps it was to have been expected that sooner or later much-married wives and husbands would become aware of the possibilities of stimulating the circumstances of automotive courtships and thereby recapturing the thrill of proximity.

That seems to be what is happening.

Either that or a lot of married couples are carrying a basket of groceries in that right-hand space in the front seat.

Why not make this column look good by moving over, ladies? Why not invite the old girl to move over, gentlemen? If there isn't a trend, we could start one.

Disarmament Views Exchanged

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON

With complete politeness in the first big test of their good intentions since the Geneva summit conference, the United States and Russia have now talked face to face almost a week about disarmament.

Net result: No solution yet. None in sight. But then, none was expected from this meeting in a subcommittee of the United Nations in New York. A little progress would be pretty good. They still have time to do something.

So far neither the United States nor Russia has bought — nor has either rejected — what the other offered. The closed meeting up to this point has been exploratory. Neither offered anything basically new.

Each was standing on a plan offered previously. This did not necessarily mean they might not agree on some proposals before they finish.

HAROLD STASSEN, President Eisenhower's special representative, explained in some detail what Eisenhower had in mind at Geneva when he offered his aerial inspection plan to the Russians. At that time Eisenhower spoke only in general terms.

Arkady A. Sobolev, Russia's chief delegate, listened for most of the week but yesterday he spoke his piece. He wanted to know what the United States had to say about the disarmament plan Russia offered last May.

Reporters got an impression from what he told them later that Russia's answer to the American proposals might depend on the American answer to Russia's plan.

Eisenhower had proposed that the United States and Russia exchange blueprints on their military forces and establishments. Then each would let the other fly over its territory to check its honesty and accuracy from the air.

—:—

THESE WERE some of the details Stassen gave the Russians for carrying out the President's idea:

The two countries would exchange information piece by piece, not all at one crack. After each exchange the two sides would check each other. Then, finding they were both honest, they would give each other more information and check on it.

In American planes flying over Russia there would be Russian observers. There would be American observers in Russian planes flying over this country. Both countries could take photographs and use electronic equipment for checking.

In addition each side would let the other send ground observers into its territory. They would be stationed at key points. Their purpose: also to check on the information given and warn if they thought there might be a surprise attack.

SOBOLEV FOR HIS part wanted to know what the United States thought about the proposals made by Russia last May 10, since the United States hasn't given a final reply. The Russians proposed that:

The armed forces of the United States, Russia and Red China be reduced to no more than 1½ million men, those of Britain and France to no more than 650,000, and those of all other nations to a maximum of 200,000.

After an agreed-upon disarmament plan had been carried out 75 per cent, there should be a ban on the use of nuclear weapons except to resist aggression. When disarmament, according to the plan, was complete, all nuclear weapons should be banned completely.

Electronic Check

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — An electronic weighing device is being tested by the Virginia Highway Department and Bureau of Public Roads. It will make it unnecessary for trucks with legal limits to pull off the highway for weighing. But when an overloaded truck crosses the device a red light is flashed at the weighing station and the offending truck will be weighed on regular highway scales.

End of the Line

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A car roared around a corner at the edge of downtown Minneapolis, hit a curb, hurtled end over end and then skidde 200 feet on its roof. The three teenage occupants stepped out with only minor injuries.

T. ARTEMUS SLUGGS, of Sluggs, Abernathy, Glutz, Sluggs and Sluggs said there is error in the contention that land for a new ball park for the "Bums" can't be obtained with federal aid because such money is forthcoming only for slum clearance. . . "It is true that downtown Brooklyn does not constitute a slum now, but take the 'Bums' away and the entire borough will constitute one" he declared today.

The attorney added that if federal funds can't be secured under the Housing Act, they can be obtained by simply moving the "Bums" to Jersey, and which would automatically classify all Brooklyn as a "distress area." With the fans booing Duke Snider, it would seem that Brooklyn needs a bigger ball park less than it needs a bigger zoo.

DR. IRVING LANGMUIR, noted scientist, reveals that experiments have shown that "cloud seeding" with dry ice has changed the course of a hurricane. . . It was tried in 1947 on a big wind and altered the course so abruptly that it hit Savannah, doing terrific damage and bringing a pledge never to try it again except on hurricanes far out to sea. We have a suspicion that, while Dr. Langmuir ceased experiments, Florida has been seeding hurricane clouds with dry ice for the past three years, using a technique which sends them all north. Florida used to get all the hurricanes. . . Suddenly they all skip the place and smack the north.

More than 80 young people, adult leaders and guests attended the Methodist Youth Fellowship retreat Sunday night at Prospect Community Park. A picnic supper preceded program and campfire periods. Guests taking part were Rev. Harley Martin, a youth director from the Dayton District of the denomination, gave a meditation and two students from Newark spoke concerning their decision to enter the ministry. One, David Bowden, will enter Ohio Northern University at Ada this fall and Kirby Gull is a senior in high school at Newark. Rev. and Mrs. John R. Howard of Ann Arbor, Mich., offered prayers. A recreation period earlier in the program was conducted by Paul Keller.

Nine-Year-Old Boy Faces Theft Charge

A nine-year-old Marion boy is being held in the county detention home today faced with possible charges in juvenile court of petty larceny.

Police say the boy has admitted the theft of three dozen fusees and 100 torpedoes from an Erie Railroad caboose left on a siding at Grand Ave. Wednesday night.

Theft of the flares and torpedoes was reported to police at 10:20 p.m. Thursday by railroad police.

The nine-year-old also told police he and some other young companions were the ones who attempted to use the flares to set fire to some corn shocks and leaves beside a private garage on George St. Thursday. Police received the complaint of boys setting fires on George St. in midmorning yesterday and subsequently apprehended the nine-year-old.

Drops in Sales Spur Milliners

Hatless Women Bring Concentrated Effort

NEW YORK (UP) — The millinery industry complains that too many women wear hats only to church.

It has begun a campaign to get women into hats for all other occasions. For two reasons One, sales have dropped. Two, the industry contends that a woman this fall will look "funny" in the new, narrow silhouette decreed by fashion, unless the hat completes the costume.

Women's hatlessness cost the industry a three per cent sales drop from 1953 to 1954 The Millinery Stabilization Commission, New York estimated retail sales in 1953 at $380,000,000. Sales in 1954 had dropped to $368,600,000 But the Commission said milliners hoped by individual and group promotions to bring 1955 sales back to the 1953 level at least.

Reasoning of Hatless

Why do even the most fashion-conscious women occasionally go hatless

Frances Ashmore staff member of a national fashion magazine, told a Fashion Group meeting in New York, that women give these excuses.

"My neck is too long and my face so thin that hats make me look pin-headed."

Or, "A hat makes me look older."

Or, "My boy-friend doesn't like hats."

Or, "Hats ruin my hair-do."

Milliner Sally Victor, who makes Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower's hats, said the industry itself is to blame

"Some of us milliners have fancied ourselves fashion dictators," she said "We've told a woman she had to wear this or that. A designer needs the freedom to create, sure But she must never forget also that a woman has the freedom to accept or reject her creation."

Hairdressers Helped

Designer John Frederics said hairdressers had been in part responsible — but he just thought they were smart for the move.

"They came out with the Italian cut and other short cuts which women liked better without hats. New hair colors also cut into our business," said Frederics.

But he added things are looking up. "The cycle has turned," he said. "Longer hair is back, and hats look better with it."

Most milliners argued that this fall and winter's stem-like silhouette demands a hat, preferably a big hat for counter-balance.

The "more hat" look comes about in several ways — through plenty of bulky fur hats, fluffy fabrics, and stress on roomier shapes such as toques and berets instead of the tiny pillbox.

More than 10 million acres of United States farm land suffered wind erosion between Nov. 1, 1954, and the end of March, 1955.

Perform as Guest When Abroad, Says New York's Mayor's Wife

NEW YORK (UP) — Mrs. Robert F. Wagner, "first lady" of the nation's largest city, says Americans would make more friends abroad if they acted as "guests" in a country instead of well-heeled tourists.

Mrs. Wagner, friendly and charming wife of New York's mayor, accompanied her husband on a month-long official tour of six Western European nations and Israel.

Now back, with feet still sore from climbing the Acropolis in high heels, Susan Wagner sat on the wide veranda of Gracie Mansion, official residence of the city's mayors, and talked like any other tourist of the sights she saw, the persons she met in this exclusive United Press interview.

"My first trip abroad," said the attractive, blonde mother of two boys. "Imagine that . . . just about everyone I know has been over several times."

Everywhere she went she crossed paths with Americans — a record number is abroad this summer — and says she was disappointed in the way they seek each other out.

"I think we should all make a sincere effort to know the people of the country we visit," she said.

Traveled Light

She noticed so many American tourists preferring hotels catering to visitors from the United States, dining at restaurants featuring steak and French fries and going places where they were sure to find other tourists from back home.

"We should accept their customs while we're there," she said. "Seems to me, we should be as guests in their house"

Mrs. Wagner said that the next time she goes abroad she will "prep" for the trip by studying at least one foreign language

"There still is the language barrier, even if English is spoken almost anywhere you go," she added.

She travelled with three suitcases and one hat box — a pretty light luggage load when you consider that she needed warm clothing for Ireland, cool clothing for Israel, Greece and Italy, and a batch of evening dresses for the round of receptions and dinners in every nation visited.

No Paris Gowns

"But I just took a lot of clothes that would do double - duty," she said. She forgot sturdy walking shoes, however.

"Next time, they'll be the first thing I pack," she said. "fancy that climb up the Acropolis in heels!"

Mrs. Wagner said she concentrated on sight-seeing rather than shopping, when she could find time from official duties.

But she missed tossing coins in Rome's Fountain of Trevi—a custom of most visitors

"No coins by this time," she explained.

"I didn't buy a single Paris gown," she said. "From what I hear of their prices, we'd have to mortgage Gracie Mansion."

She added that she prefers American styles anyway.

But since her return, several foreign dressmakers, including Norman Hartnell who designs for Queen Elizabeth II, have asked whether they might run up a collection for her.

"Don't know whether I should be flattered or piqued," she said with a chuckle. "Maybe they thought I was hardly the best dressed woman they'd ever seen."

HAIR PROBLEM

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP) — Gerold Taxler, a 23-year-old Austrian student at Yale, liked the United States so much that he even got a crew cut. But Taxler said that before returning to Vienna he'll let his hair grow out again because "back home only people in jail have a hair style like that, and it would cause suspicion if I came home with cropped hair."

Meadow Mice Get An Aerial Bombing

BURT, N. Y. (UP) — Meadow mice haven't a chance when a flying farmer, Russell D. Sage, bombs them from the air.

Sage has put into use a gadget known as a Venturi pipe, hooked over the side of an airplane, to shower poisoned pellets into the mice runways of his orchards. The propeller blasts from low altitudes does the trick.

One of western New York's first flying farmers, Sage says his novel system has it all over the ground method of distributing poisoned bait to kill meadow mice—one of the worst orchard pests. He claims it also is much more effective.

By using his plane, Sage says he can cover an acre in two minutes—compared with about an hour's time when using the hand broadcast method, a garden-seeder or a tractor attachment. He says the plane-strafing method also gets the bait where it is needed most, at the base of the trees.

Wisconsin Man Greets 100th Great-Grandchild

MANITOWOC, Wis (UP)—John Gintner, 95, of Reedsville, Wis., had not tired of the repetition recently when he bottle-fed his 100th great-grandchild.

Two-week-old Nancy Ann Gintner snuggled in her great-grandfather's arms with no realization of the rarity of being number 100 and the added rarity of evening up the ratio—50 girls and 50 boys.

Gintner has 51 grandchildren and was the father of five daughters and four sons. All of the sons and Gintner's wife are dead.

Otterbein Dean in U.S. Job

Former Teacher in Ohio Fights Reds With Words

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio has a former school teacher fighting in the war of words with the Soviet Union.

And balding Kenneth Bunce says he'll probably never go back to his old job as dean of Otterbein College in Westerville, Ohio. His career now is in the U.S. Information Agency.

This organization is concerned with getting favorable information about the United States to people in foreign lands. Bunce has been working at that for nearly 10 years in Tokyo.

"I like to think we've done some good," said Bunce the other day at Ft. McNair, where he is taking a year's study at the National War College.

—:—

"THERE IS A considerable amount of pro-American sentiment in Japan. This is particularly true in the government, and big business and finance. Among some labor groups and the intellectuals, however, there is some anti-American feeling."

Bunce probably knows Tokyo a lot better now than he does Ohio, even though he was born in Gallipolis and grew up in Westerville.

He took his first trip there in 1936, after a spell of teaching at Ohio State University. His job in Tokyo was teaching English to Japanese students in what would compare to an American junior college.

Bunce got the job through his wife's father, who was a missionary in Japan for the United Brethren Church. He met his wife, the former Alice Shively, while they were students at Otterbein.

"IN FACT," says Bunce, "I had a Japanese friend during that period, Wada Shusuka, who after the war was convicted as a war criminal. I was called as a character witness during his trial.

"He was sentenced to life imprisonment, but I'm still not sure about the extent of his guilt or innocence."

Bunce says Shuksuka was convicted of various charges of brutality in the treatment of American war prisoners.

Bunce taught at the Japanese school until 1939, then returned to Westerville and was named chairman of Otterbein's history department. In 1941 he was named dean, a position he held until 1943 when he joined the Navy and was sent to its School on Military Government.

—:—

BEFORE JOINING the information agency, he served for a time in Manila, and later Tokyo, on the staff of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

With the current easing of tension with the Soviet Union, Bunce feels America's propaganda abroad is going to have to be revised.

"We can't strike too strident a note of anti-communism now," he says. "That would antagonize people who are hearing softer words from the Russians and the Chinese Communists.

"But we must make it possible for people to analyze the extent to which there has really been a change in Communist policy."

Murderer Delivers His Own Funeral Message

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—An executed murderer delivered his own funeral message Thursday — by tape recording.

About 450 persons at the First Baptist Church heard Lester Bartholomew's voice ask "all of you who are my friends, and those near to me" to "get right with God."

In the message recorded in death row, he said:

"Having faith will get you right with God.

Adopt Him as your Savior now. Don't wait.

"I hope to see all of you in Heaven.

"Bye-bye, now. Bye-bye."

Bartholomew died in the gas chamber Wednesday for shooting his wife and two children at their Phoenix home May 28.

New Polio Case

CLEVELAND (AP)—Another polio case was reported by the city health department yesterday, bringing the total for the season in greater Cleveland to 144. There were 207 cases a year ago.

A 167-pound block of wood simulating body of the average driver is used (top) to illustrate new Ford deep-center steering wheel, part of a safety design to "package" the driver in case of accident. The wood block strikes the wheel (middle) and rebounds (lower) without striking the steering post.

Charge Dismissed

A charge of assault and battery was dismissed in Marion Municipal Court Thursday against Gerald Wynn of 443 Olney Ave. The charge had been filed July 23 by a Mrs. Richard Tuttle. The charge was dismissed because of lack of evidence to prosecute.

Pair Ordered From City

Two men were given their choice of leaving the city or paying $25 fines by Municipal Judge W. Dexter Hazen Thursday. D. L. Thomas, 60, of Vero Beach, Fla., and W. G. Hyssong, 46, of Cambridge, Pa., were charged with train riding. Both chose to leave town.

Chicago Woman Makes Peace With Locked-Out Hubby, Union

CHICAGO (AP)—A housewife who locked her husband out of their house because of a strike has made peace with all concerned, including the president of the local union involved.

Mrs. Esther Quigley, 35, appeared in Woman's court Thursday with Nicholas Prete, president of Local 1214, CIO United Auto Workers on charges of disorderly conduct. Mrs. Quigley and Prete were arrested last Friday in front of the Harrison Sheet Steel Co. after a disturbance in which she allegedly pushed a carton of milk at Prete and ripped off his shirt.

Earlier this week she had allowed her husband Andrew, a local union steward, back into their home after a one-week lockout for his participation in the strike. She declared the strike, now settled, was illegal because the contract had not expired.

In court Thursday, Mrs. Quigley's attorney said all had been forgiven. He asked that the charges be dropped.

"The union holds no grudge against Mrs. Quigley," Prete's counsel said

All charges were dismissed by Judge Erwin J. Hastens.

Marion-Morrow Line Bridge Project Studied

Marion and Morrow County commissioners are studying proposed improvemet of a bridge located on a county line road, Marion County Road 9-E, over Flat Run.

The commissioners met Monday when it was decided that Marion County Engineer Reed Ours would draw up specifications for the bridge improvement. The improvement project would include widening and lengthening of the 42-foot pony truss bridge, located just south of U. S. Route 30-S.

Morrow County would have charge of closing the road and maintaining warning lights and the commissioners estimated that the improvement should not cost each county more than $5,000.

$50 Fine Suspended

A 51-year old Marion man charged with lottery in the possession of Irish sweepstakes ticket books last Jan. 8 was given a suspended fine of $50 and costs in Marion Municipal Court. E. S. Roger of 672 Hocking St. first pleaded not guilty to the charge and later changed his plea to guilty. Hearing on the charge was held several weeks ago but final disposition was not made until Thursday
